The International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi

Professional Commerce and Business Administration Fraternity

Delta Sigma Pi was founded at New York University, School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance, on November 7, 1907, by Alexander F. Makay, Alfred Moysello, Harold V. Jacobs and H. Albert Tienken. Delta Sigma Pi is a professional fraternity organized to foster the study of business in universities; to encourage scholarship, social activity and the association of students for their mutual advancement by research and practice; to promote closer affiliation between the commercial world and students of commerce; and to further a high standard of commercial ethics and culture, and the civic and commercial welfare of the community.

The Grand President's Column

A PLEASANT but not a lax summer has passed since chatting with you in the columns of the May DELTASIG. It has been my pleasure since then to travel many hundreds of miles with our Executive Director, Jim Thomson, and to participate in the installation of two fine new chapters on the campuses of Lamar State College of Technology in Beaumont, Texas and Oklahoma City University in Oklahoma City. My travels did not stop there, as I also journeyed to Oxford, Ohio, this summer to view the progress being made on our new Central Office Building and to join with our Grand Council in what was a most constructive meeting. This fall added more miles when I attended the Eastern Regional Meeting in Trenton, New Jersey and the South Central Regional Meeting in New Orleans, Louisiana. Each trip has brought me into contact with a different segment of the fraternity yet my impression remains much the same. Delta Sigma Pi is a powerful force in the development of future business leaders and its strength is abundant and growing. We truly have a sound and progressive fraternity with thousands of exceptionally fine members.

Soon we will pause and travel to New York to celebrate our 50 years of progress in conjunction with our 21st Grand Chapter Congress. As is the custom, we may reflect on the past, possibly pointing with pride to the achievements of yesteryear. I am hopeful, however, that we will keep our eyes trained on the future and what goals lie ahead rather than rest on past performances. This past year has been a great one with 36 chapters scoring 100,000 points in the 1956 Chapter Efficiency, our national income reaching a new high and with the construction of our new Central Office Building. I'm proud of this record, but I am not satisfied that we can't do better. My eyes are on the future, what about yours? What can you do about making this a truly "Golden" year?

I can't proceed with the business at hand without acknowledging B. C. Butler's contribution to the Grand Council and expressing my regrets at his having to resign due to business pressure. We will miss Brother Butler's guiding hand in the Southwestern Region, but we are pleased to welcome Past Grand President Ken White back into the official family. Ken has been appointed by the Grand Council to fill B. C. Butler's unexpired term.

In conclusion let me urge you on to greater heights in Delta Sigma Pi and may God be with you during our Christmas Season and throughout 1957.

Fraternally,

J. Harry Feltham,
Grand President

THE UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA'S two most attractive buildings are the Gold Star Memorial Library and the Administration, both of which are lighted at night and can be seen for many miles. The Gamma Theta Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi was installed there on May 19, 1956.

The Southwestern Region Grows With Two Chapter Installations

LAST SPRING saw the further expansion of the Southwestern Region of Delta Sigma Pi with the installation of two fine new chapters, Delta Eta at Lamar State College of Technology in Beaumont, Texas, and Oklahoma City University in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. This brought the total undergraduate chapters to 10 with four of these in Oklahoma and six in Texas as follows: Beta Epsilon at University of Oklahoma, Beta Chi at Tulsa University, Gamma Epsilon at Oklahoma A & M, Delta Theta at Oklahoma City University, Beta Iota at Baylor University, Beta Kappa at University of Texas, Beta Upsilon at Texas Technological College, Beta Phi at Southern Methodist University, Delta Epsilon at North Texas State College, and Delta Eta at Lamar State College of Technology.

Installation of Delta Eta Chapter at Lamar State College of Technology

ON SATURDAY, April 14, all of the eyes in Delta Sigma Pi were focused on Beaumont, Texas and the installation of Delta Eta Chapter in the School of Business Administration at Lamar State College of Technology in Beaumont, Texas. The impressive ritualistic ceremonies were held in the Hotel Beaumont and began with an informal luncheon in the Sky Room. The installation team consisting of Grand President J. Harry Feltham, Executive Director J. D. Thomson, Southwestern Regional Director B. C. Butler, and delegations from the Houston Alumni Club, Beta Kappa Chapter at Texas, and Beta Iota Chapter at Baylor were treated to a tour of Beaumont and the Lamar State Campus in a fleet of new Fords escorted by motorcycle policemen with sirens screaming. The formal ritualistic initiation followed with the climax arriving in the evening at the installation banquet. A total of 34 undergraduates and two faculty were initiated into Delta Eta Chapter that day.

At the installation banquet that evening Executive Director J. D. Thomson served as the toastmaster and introduced President F. L. McDonald of Lamar State who extended greetings to the new chapter. The history of the School of Business Administration was related by David G. Taylor, a member of the Lamar State faculty and an alumnus of Beta Iota Chapter at Baylor. Elmer D. Walp told of the founding of Lambda Sigma Chi, our petitioning group, and of its activities prior to its installation. The highlight came with the presentation of the charter by Grand President J. Harry Feltham and its acceptance on behalf of Delta Eta Chapter by Larry H. Farmer, its first president. Scores of telegrams, letters and other communications received from national officers, chapters and alumni clubs were presented by Southwestern Regional Director B. C. Butler, all of which welcomed the new chapter into the fraternal bond. Introductions of the official delegations from Houston, Austin and Waco concluded a most memorable day and the formal installation of Delta Eta Chapter at Lamar State College of Technology.

THE EXTREMELY MODERN and new Student Union on the Lamar State College of Technology campus is in keeping with the over-all motif of the College.

History of Lamar State College of Technology

Lamar State College of Technology, now in its 33rd year since it was founded as South Park Junior College in 1923, reaches a new peak in both enrollment and achievement with each succeeding year.

The college shows what a community can do in the field of higher education. In 1923, when the South Park Board of Education sought to provide additional schooling for the area's youth beyond the high school course, a way was sought to obtain the junior college.

J. B. Morris, now chairman of the Lamar Tech Board of Regents, was commissioned to draw up a bill to be presented to the Legislature in order to establish South Park Junior College. The bill pioneered the way for the creation of junior colleges in other parts of the state.

At first Lamar had to share space in South Park High School; but its growth called for separate facilities; and by 1932 Lamar had a building of its own, the MacArthur Junior High Building. The name was changed from South Park Junior College to Lamar Junior College.

So phenomenal was the growth of the school and the demands for admission from areas outside the local area that the second major phase in the school's history took place. With the aid of the Young Men's Business League and others, the Lamar Junior College District was formed. By the postwar years, Lamar was rated nationally as being one of the top junior colleges in the nation.

By 1947, the need for a technological college was recognized and Jefferson County residents supported the school in persuading the Legislature to create a four-year technological college.

The 1949 Legislature passed the Lamar bill, but because of lack of funds it did not become a law. Southeast Texas continued its work with the Legislature and this time the move was accomplished with a four-year school opening in 1951.

While many persons worked hard to make Lamar Tech a reality, a great deal of credit goes to Gov. Allen Shivers, then lieutenant governor, and to United States Representative Jack B. Brooks, at that time a member of the Legislature.

Lamar's growth since 1923 defies all imagination. From less than 200 students in 1923, Lamar had 4,688 students in 1956. It is a member of the Association of Texas Colleges, a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and is recognized by the Texas Council of College Presidents.

Personalities that stand out in recounting Lamar's accomplishments include its presidents, the late Judge J. M. Combs, in whose memory Combs Hall was named, and Mr. Morris, who has been connected with the college as legal advisor and trustee from its inception.

Its presidents have included the late L. R. Pietzsch, the late C. W. Bingham, John E. Gray, now vice-president of First National Bank of Beaumont, and Dr. F. L. McDonald current president. O. B. Archer, now vice-president and dean has been with the college since its beginning in 1923. At various times, he has served as acting president of the school.

Lamar Tech's campus is one that draws the praise of visiting educators. A second dormitory was completed in the summer of 1955, and in the fall a dining hall was opened for use. Contracts have been awarded for a new library, and soon work will begin on a new Science Building and one for the School of Business Administration.

Lamar offers 3 degrees, Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, and Bachelor of Business Administration in 38 different areas of study. At present time, Lamar boasts a total of 52 organizations on the campus. These consist of three honor societies, five religious organizations, seven service organizations, 23 professional, eight social, and six mutual interest organizations.

School of Business

Although Lamar State College of Technology was organized to emphasize technological studies, there arose in the late 1940's a strong demand on the part of students and industry for a department of specialized training in the field of commerce.

In September 1951, the Division of Business Administration was formed under the supervision of Dr. Richard W. Setzer, with the purpose of filling this demand.

The Division of Business Administration had a very modest beginning in the fall of 1951 with 80 majors and 6 faculty members. Since this time the Division has experienced steady and encouraging growth through the present time. Because of this study growth the School of Business Administration was formed in the fall of 1954. Dr. Richard W. Setzer was awarded the distinction of being the first Dean of the School of Business, both because of his superior administrative ability, and his enviable record in the Division of Business Administration. The School of Business now boasts over 1,000 majors and 18 faculty members.

In 1951 Lamar offered degrees in accounting, secretarial science, and general business administration with majors in the following: accounting, general business, secretarial science, industrial management, economics, finance, and marketing.

The Division of Business Administration had only three classrooms assigned to it in 1951, and in 1956 only 6 classrooms. The rapid and steady growth in enrollment has made necessary the construction of a new, entirely air-conditioned Business Administration Building, which is presently under construction and should be finished by the fall of 1957. The new building will house all offices of business faculty and will boast 15 classrooms and a large seminar room. Each room will be specially designed to best suit its purpose, such as the new typing and dictation-transcription room, and the modern equipped office and accounting machines room.

History of Lambda Sigma Chi

During the spring semester of 1955, Larry H. Farmer, E. D. Walp and Carl D. Siebenthal recognized the need for a professional fraternity that would combine all the outstanding students in the School of Business at Lamar State College of Technology.

These three students with the aid of Dr. Richard W. Setzer, Dean of the School of Business, and Mr. Howard V. Galliher, accounting instructor, founded a professional fraternity patterned after a chapter of the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi.

Charter members were selected according to personality and scholastic rating, a "B" average was required. The original membership of 19 appointed a constitution committee which formed and presented a constitution to the members on May 5, 1955. On that date the constitution was ratified.

Dr. Richard W. Setzer and Mr. Howard V. Galliher were elected sponsors. During the fall of 1956 Mr. David G. Taylor and Mr. Barney Smith were elected by the members as additional sponsors. Mr. Taylor and Mr. Smith are alumni of Delta Sigma Pi.

Logically the next major step in the accomplishment of the aims of Lambdasig was the pledging of new members. A formal dinner was held to accept those rushees who were chosen to pledge Lambda Sigma Chi. This dinner marked the opening of a very successful first pledge season for the fraternity. Tyrus Sibley and Arthur Hannah were selected co-captains of the pledge group.

Prior to the time of rushing prospective members Lambdasig had launched its professional activities with a tour of the First National Bank of Beaumont. The tour consisted of delving into the technicalities and intricacies of the banking profession. Relaying the technical information and conducting the tour was

Dr. John W. Gray, executive vice-president of the bank and former president of Lamar State College.

Since that time and in conjunction with other activities various business and industrial enterprises have been the subject of professional field work of the fraternity.

However, the social life of the fraternity was not suppressed by the professional activities. The first social function was the selection of the "Rose" of Lambda Sigma Chi. Miss Evelyn Sweat, head drum majorette of Lamar, was chosen as representative in the social functions of the fraternity and of Lamar Tech.

Honor came to Lambda Sigma Chi through the "Rose," when Evelyn, backed by the fraternity, placed second against 26 candidates in the race for Homecoming Queen of Lamar Tech.

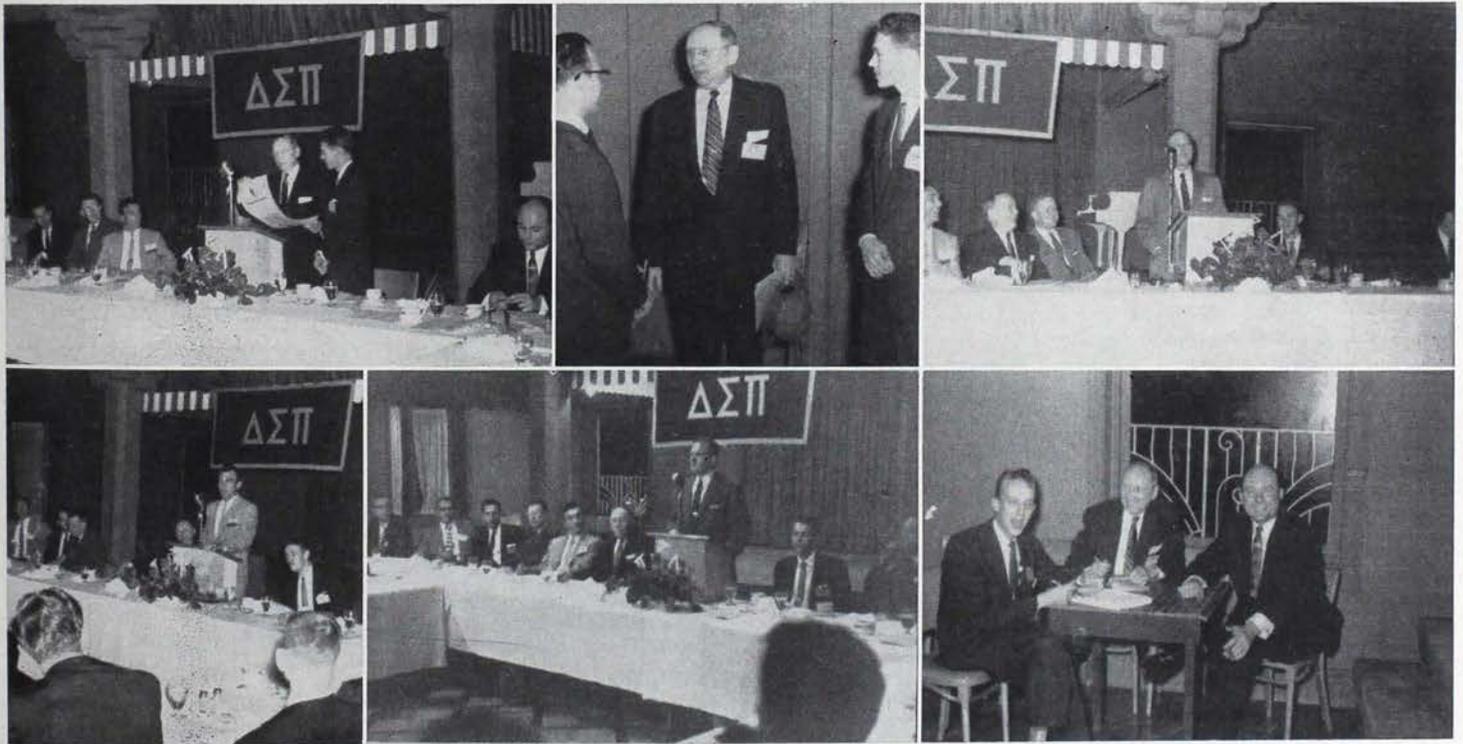

While these events were taking place the pledge season was progressing smoothly and rapidly drawing to a close. On December 9, 1955, the pledge class and members assembled in a private dining room of the Little Mexico restaurant in Orange, Texas. The pledges experienced the rituals of formal initiation after which, as brothers of Lambda Sigma Chi, all enjoyed a banquet.

These were the highlights of Lambda Sigma Chi, an organization that grew from obscurity to campus prominence in less than one year.

The first officers of Delta Eta Chapter were: President Robert T. Aubey, Secretary Avery G. Dionne, Treasurer William R. Montalvo, Chapter Advisors Dr. Richard W. Setzer, Howard Galliher, David Taylor, and Bernard Smith.

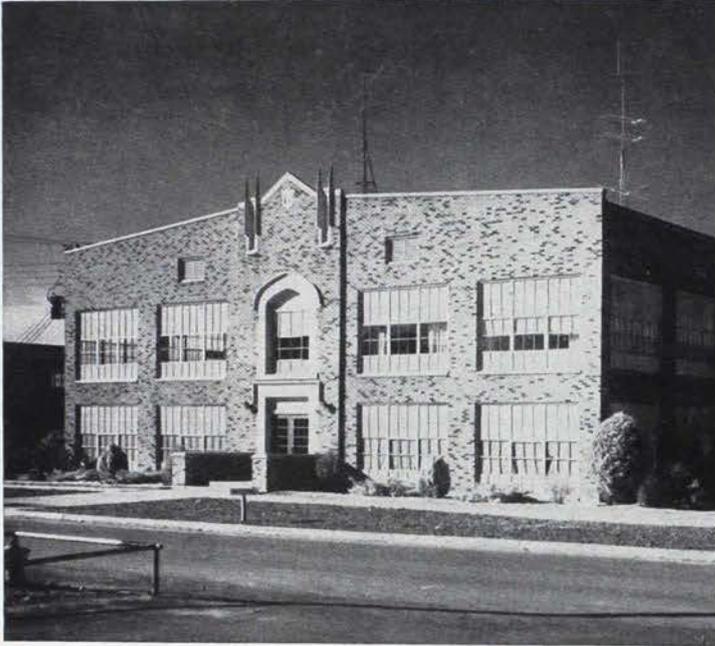

The undergraduate members initiated on April 14 were: Larry H. Farmer, Elmer D. Walp, Bernie J. Bourque, Avery G. Dionne, Edgar A. Williamson, Carl D. Siebenthal, Tyrus R. Sibley, Frank A. Bell, Jerry N. Boynton, Lionel A. DeRouen, Alva A. Richardson, Jr., Nolan J. Landry, Donald J. Nantz, William D. Parker, Johnnie J. Turner, Glen P. Thomas, Robert T. Aubey, Bobby D. Barras, Arthur A. Installation of Delta Theta Chapter at Oklahoma City University

QUITE EARLY on Saturday morning, May 19, 1956, delegations from Beta Epsilon Chapter at Oklahoma, Beta Chi Chapter at Tulsa, and Gamma Epsilon Chapter at Oklahoma A. & M. joined Grand President J. Harry Feltham, Past Grand President Kenneth B. White, Executive Director J. D. Thomson, and District Director Jack Ward for the installation of Delta Theta Chapter at Oklahoma City University in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

THE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS Building on the University of Oklahoma campus where the ritualistic ceremonies for Gamma Theta Chapter were held.

Registration of the visiting delegations was held in the new C. Q. Smith Student and Faculty Center Building on the Oklahoma City University Campus. At noon an informal luncheon was held in this building at which Mr. C. Q. Smith, President of Oklahoma City University, welcomed the guests and related the history of the University for their benefit. Following the luncheon, activities were transferred across the campus to the School of Business Building where the informal and formal initiation were held. Late afternoon found the members of the new Delta Theta Chapter properly initiated by a ritual team composed of members of the visiting delegations and headed by Grand President J. Harry Feltham. The Installation Banquet was held that evening at Beverly's, a well known Oklahoma City restaurant.

Serving as toastmaster at the banquet was Jim Thomson, Executive Director, who introduced Dean Glenn D. Overman. In a rather humorous, but informative fashion, Dean Overman related the History of the School of Business at Oklahoma City University. Incidents relative to the founding of Delta Kappa Fraternity, our petitioning group, were cited by Richard D. Spurlin, senior vice-president of Delta Theta Chapter. The climax of the program was reached when Grand President Feltham presented the charge and charter to Delta Theta Chapter. The charter was accepted by Robert D. Stipes, president of Delta Theta Chapter, with appropriate remarks. Fraternal greetings were then extended by Past Grand President Kenneth B. White, who also read a few of the scores of congratulatory telegrams and letters that had been received from the national officers, chapters and alumni clubs. An introduction of the visiting delegates from Oklahoma, Tulsa and Oklahoma A. & M. concluded the program.

History of Oklahoma City University

Like the eminent state in which it has grown, Oklahoma City University has progressed to its present reputable position because of the planning, labor and prayers of its founders and administrators. It has seen the picturesque and turbulent era of the pioneers, missionaries and Boomers. From its parentage, which was a blending of Oklahoma and Texas, the University has grown from a crude frontier birth into a cultural and scholastic center.

The story of Oklahoma City University is in two parts. The first tells of the rise of Methodism in Oklahoma and the establishment of the first missions during the early half of the last century. These early Methodist missions constitute one part of the tradition behind the institution known today as Oklahoma City University.

In 1889, the academic family tree of the University took root in Fort Worth, Texas. The history of the struggling young college is not now clear, but after a few years the school was chartered as Fort Worth University and kept that name until 1911, when it was moved to Guthrie, Oklahoma, and took the name of Oklahoma Methodist University.

However, this was not the actual beginning of the University's history. In 1904, the Oklahoma Methodist Episcopal Church established a college in Oklahoma City under the name of Epworth University. The campus of that school was located in what is now the 1900 block on North Douglas street. This college operated until 1911 when it also merged with Oklahoma Methodist University at Guthrie. Thus Texas and Oklahoma antecedents of the present University were wedded together, and thereafter the course of what is now Oklahoma City University became more clearly defined.

Due to financial difficulties the young institution at Guthrie failed to prosper. In 1919 the Oklahoma Methodist University moved to Oklahoma City, and the name was changed to Oklahoma City College under the direction of President E. G. Green. At that time the College had an enrollment of 115 students, a library of 1,000 volumes and a budget of $9,000. Rented buildings at Northeast 12th and Walnut Streets served as the campus.

The first of Oklahoma City University's present campus was acquired in 1921 when 20 acres of land were purchased. The first building, now the Administration building, was occupied in November, 1922. Two years later the name of the school was changed to Oklahoma City University. It was during the presidency of Dr. Eugene M. Antrim in 1926 that the gymnasium was built. The third building to be erected was the School of Music in 1928.

For 18 years the school suffered the typical financial ups and downs without any additional buildings. The unification of Methodism in 1939 brought new strength and new hope to the University. President A. G. Williamson heroically steered it through the terrible depression and began the building of an endowment fund.

In 1941, Dr. C. Q. Smith became president of the University. Under his leadership the assets have increased more than 5 million dollars. There are 28 buildings on the campus today, including: the magnificent Gold Star Memorial Library and School of Religion, C. Q. Smith Student-Faculty Center, Industrial Arts and School of Business. Additional purchases of land have brought the campus site to 50 acres in the center of metropolitan Oklahoma City.

The evening college had grown to such immediate proportions that the old YMCA building with 66,000 square feet of floor space, in the heart of the downtown area, was purchased in 1952 and converted into a spacious evening college. When additional buildings were completed on the campus in September, 1955, evening classes were moved to the campus to permit optimum use of equipment, parking, and other facilities.

The university is now operated through five autonomous schools: the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Music, the School of Business, the School of Law and the School of Industrial Arts.

Enrollment of the University for the fall term of 1955 was 3,157. The university is fully accredited by the North Central Association, the University Senate of the Methodist Church, the National Commission of Christian Higher Education and the Oklahoma State Board of Education. It is a member of the Association of American Colleges, Urban Universities, University Evening Colleges and the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Oklahoma City University is owned and controlled by the Methodist Church.

The University has for many years offered courses in various business subjects. In 1946, however, the School of Business was organized as a separate autonomous school. Under the direction of Glenn D. Overman and a capable staff, the School of Business has grown to be highly respected throughout the Southwest.

History of Delta Kappa

In the early part of March 1954, a group of men from Oklahoma City University School of Business were brought together to hear J. D. Thomson, the Executive Secretary of Delta Sigma Pi. The purpose of this meeting was to learn more about this organization and purpose of the college undergraduate professional business fraternity.

This meeting was primarily the responsibility of Ralph W. Willey and Charles E. Burton, both of whom later served as president of Delta Kappa. The meeting was under the sponsorship and guidance of Glenn D. Overman, Dean of the School of Business. It was at this meeting that the group first learned that Oklahoma City University was an eligible University and that the School of Business had sufficient enrollment to support an organization of this type. Further, Mr. Thomson explained to the group the professional fraternity system, its function and objectives. He also described Delta Sigma Pi, its purposes and its organization.

Talks were also given at this meeting on the subject of business fraternities as they affected Oklahoma City University and the students of the School of Business. These were given by Glenn D. Overman and Charles E. Burton, a business student who presided as host for the meeting.

After some discussion from the floor it was decided that a sufficient number of the students present were interested to justify organizing a fraternity in the field of commerce and business administration. At this time a date was set for the first organizational meeting of the group.

During the first organizational meeting on March 6, 1954, it was conclusively decided to organize a fraternity in the field of commerce and business administration on the Oklahoma City University campus. The first election of officers was also held at that meeting. The results were President, Ralph W. Willey; Vice President, Charles E. Burton; and Secretary and Treasurer, Roger Pierce. There were 17 men present.

It was the consensus of the group that the aims of the fraternity shall be compatible with the objectives of the University and the general aim of the organization would be to petition a national group at some future time. Work began at once on the constitution and ritual of the fraternity. With the writing of a ritual the Greek letters Delta Kappa were chosen as the name of the fraternity. The letters Delta Kappa were given secret and ritualistic meaning. Thereafter the ritual was written by the chairman of that particular committee, Davis M. Parker.

With the name chosen and the work on the constitution almost finished, the fraternity was well under way. The faculty and the Dean of the School of Business gave Delta Kappa complete support from its inception. At the meeting on April 20, 1954, the new constitution was read for approval by the chairman of that committee, Wayne F. Walton. It was approved at the same meeting.

After the approval of the constitution by Delta Kappa it was submitted to the University Faculty Committee on Student Organizations. It was at this time that Delta Kappa was given recognition by the University.

Interest of the members and faculty continued to remain very high. So high, in fact, that at the first initiation all the original 17 men who were present at the first organizational meeting were present for their initiation and banquet. Glenn D. Overman, Dean of the School of Business, and John T. Hedges, business law professor, were also initiated at that time.

The following fall, Delta Kappa regrouped to begin the work to which the fraternity was originally dedicated. The aspects of rush, professional programs and plans to meet the requirements of a petition were discussed and worked out. In addition, several campus projects were adopted and completed.

Each semester Delta Kappa had a rush smoker to which all the eligible students of the School of Business were invited. At these smokers, a personality from some field of business was the guest speaker. Meetings were also attended by representatives from the School of Business faculty.

Meeting the requirements to petition a national fraternity had always been in the plans of Delta Kappa. A committee was appointed to make a complete investigation. After this investigation the fraternity voted unanimously to petition Delta Sigma Pi.

The first officers of Delta Theta Chapter were: President Robert D. Stipes, Senior Vice President Richard G. Spurlin, Vice President Howard T. Griffin, Secretary Earl W. Buchtel, Treasurer William J. Sykora, Chapter Advisors Glenn D. Overman, Essid L. Kouri, Max V. Poffenberger, Willis J. Wheat, John T. Hedges, William A. Capper.

The undergraduates initiated May 19 were: Carroll O. Johnson, Howard J. Vanhook, Jr., Wayne F. Walton, James C. French, Vernon R. Rose, Kenneth D. Kerby, John A. Stevens, Howard T. Griffin, Ernest J. Verba, Robert D. Stipes, Robert E. Booth, John B. Brown, Earl W. Buchtel, James C. Cowden, Earl J. Hampton, Kermit L. Howell, George M. Sturgell, Walter H. Miles, John E. Boxley, Kenneth E. Riker, William D. Smith, Richard G. Spurlin, Billy F. Sutherland, William J. Sykora, Edwin E. Thele, Albert E. Myers, Harold G. Cox, Paul R. Boynton, Jack D. Eckroat, Otis O. Holly, Arthur Orlando De La Garza, Joseph F. Hatch, James R. Goodson, Dennis W. Jeter, William R. Kolb, Jesse J. Maynard, Eugene P. McConville, Edward J. Murphy, James I. Pollock, John E. Reilly, Elwood Rone, Robert H. Smith, Doyle S. Hastings, Michael T. Walker, Harold P. Warren.

Delta Sigma Pi Moves to Its New Building in Oxford

ON SEPTEMBER 1, just about one year from the date the construction contract was signed, Delta Sigma Pi moved its Central Office from 222 West Adams Street in Chicago, where it had been since 1926, to its new building on 330 South Campus Avenue in Oxford, Ohio. A great deal has been accomplished in the past year, but the building is still a long way from being complete. A portion of the main floor of the building was made in readiness for the move and includes the aries, one assisting each of our administrators, one person serving as a records clerk to maintain our 37,000 mailing list and membership records, a bookkeeper, and a maintenance man, making a total of seven on the staff including our Executive Director and Executive Secretary.

In August the Grand Council of Delta Sigma Pi held its annual meeting in Oxford to view first hand the progress that was being made on the building and also to become better acquainted with the new community in which The Central Office will live. The meeting lasted four days during which the members were housed at the Gray Gables, guest house for the Western College for Women in Oxford, and business sessions were held in Upham Hall, a fine classroom building of Miami University. This was the first time that the Grand Council had met in such surroundings, which are in keeping with the new environment of The Central Office.

general secretarial office, the addressograph and records room, and the mail room and supply vault. In less than a week after the arrival of the office furniture and equipment from Chicago business was being conducted, not as usual, but quite satisfactory under the conditions that prevailed.

The move to Oxford necessitated the hiring of a complete new staff with the exception of Executive Director Jim Thomson and Executive Secretary Ray Flodin, both of whom moved to Oxford from Chicago. The new staff consists of two secre-

During the meeting one evening was devoted to the laying of the cornerstone of the building along with the recognition of many Oxford people who have cooperated and made this building possible. Simple cornerstone laying ceremonies were conducted about 6:00 p.m. on August 24 with Grand President J. Harry Feltham officiating. He was assisted by Past Grand President John McKewen who inserted two micro film capsules in the stone containing current data on Delta Sigma Pi, Miami University and Oxford, Ohio. Prayers were offered by Reverend Howard Gebhart of the Memorial Presbyterian Church of Oxford to open and conclude the ceremonies. A fellowship hour then ensued at the home of Executive Director Jim Thomson, followed by a dinner at the Gray Gables in Oxford.

MICRO FILM CAPSULES are being placed in the Central Office Building cornerstone by Past Grand President John L. McKewen while Grand President J. Harry Feltham prepares to place the cover on the stone and seals it in place.

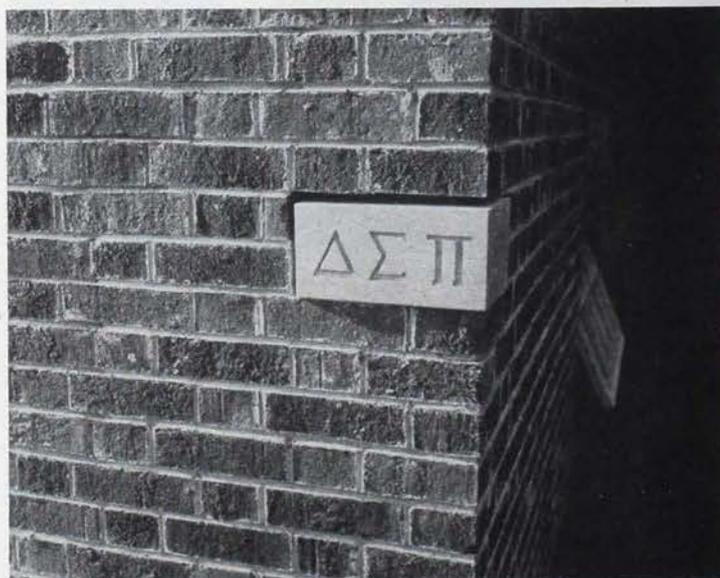

In attendance at the event were the members of the Grand Council: Grand President J. Harry Feltham, Past Grand President John L. McKewen, Past Grand President Robert G. Busse, Director of Business Education E. Coulter Davies, Director Franklin Tober, Eastern Regional Director Robert O. Hughes, Southeastern Regional Director Homer T. Brewer, East Central Regional Director Robert F. Andree, Central Regional Director Frank A. Geraci, South Central Regional Director V. Burt Waite, Midwestern Regional Director Henry C. Lucas, Western Regional Director Andrew P. Marincovich, Inter-mountain Regional Director D. H. Chandler, Executive Director J. D. Thomson, and Executive Secretary Raymond W. Flodin; from Oxford: Clarence Kreger, Provost of Miami U.; Raymond Glos, Dean of the School of Business Administration; Rollin Niswonger, Assistant Dean; Foster Cole, Business Manager of Miami U.; Carl Knox, Dean of Men; Arthur Conrad, Superintendent of Grounds of Miami U.; Halsey Ramsen, for many

O. Small and Willis Wirtz; the architects; A. G. The national officers of the other two headquarters in Oxford, Beta Theta Pi and Phi Delta Theta, were also invited but they were away on conventions and could not attend.

The completion of the building in its entirety is expected about the first of the year and plans are now being made to dedicate the building in the spring to H. G. Wright, Grand Secretary-Treasurer Emeritus, with appropriate ceremonies in which all chapters and alumni clubs in the area will participate.

University of Wisconsin Dedicates New School of Commerce Building

CULMINATING more than a half century of development in teaching, research and service in the field of business, the Commerce building at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, dedicated on May 4, 1956, provides the School of Commerce for the first time with a home of its own. The new building will permit the gathering under one roof of classes, offices and conferences which in recent years have been spread literally from one end of the campus to the other.

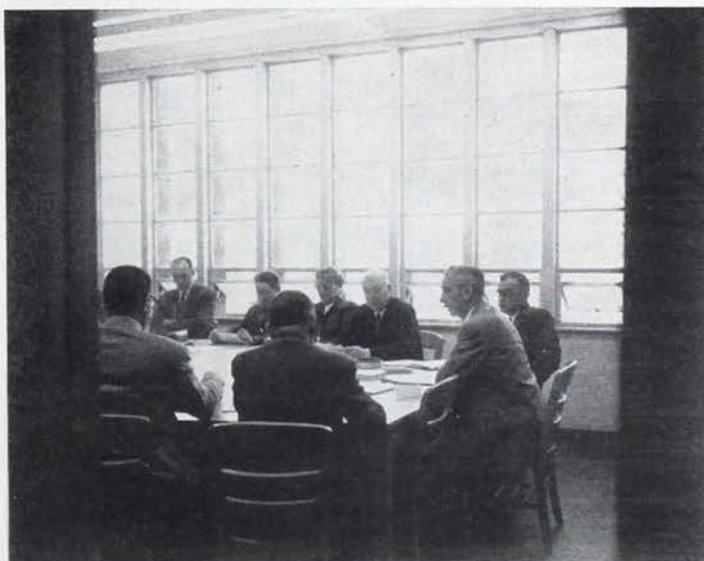

This five-level structure, built into the hillside immediately west of Bascom Hall, a landmark on the Wisconsin campus. The new building has its main entrance on Observatory Drive directly across from the Memorial Tower and Carillon. The eastern entrance, which like the main entrance enters at the first floor level, joins the terrace at the rear of Bascom Hall and provides a convenient passage between the two buildings. Two other entrances are to be found on either side of a 550 seat auditorium, which constitutes a separate unit two levels below the first floor. A fifth entrance, at the northeast corner of the building enters the ground floor, one level below the first floor, and leads directly to the library, reading room and student lounge. The administrative offices, located near the main entrance on the first floor, consist of a public reception office, a placement office with three adjoining rooms for employment interviews, a registrar's office, a semi-private office for the dean's secretary, panelled offices for the dean and associate dean, and a panelled conference room adjacent to and matching the dean's office.

On the first and ground level floors are located 16 classrooms, five seminar rooms and four lecture rooms. Ten of the classrooms are equipped with metal tables and wooden chairs, and range in seating capacity from 36 to 71. The other six classrooms are equipped with auditorium seats, accommodating 50 students. The five seminar rooms are furnished with U-shaped tables to facilitate informal discussions. In addition to the auditorium seating 550, the lecture rooms have capacities of 220, 150 and 120 respectively.

The northern wing of the ground level, which because of the slope of the ground is entirely exposed, contains a library with tables and chairs for 144 students, a student lounge seating 24, and a faculty reading room seating ten.

The third floor of the building, which consists of a single wing 60 by 150 feet, is used entirely for faculty offices and faculty service facilities. This floor contains 35 single offices, designed to provide the privacy required for study and for student conferences. There are also three larger offices for the use of teaching assistants. In addition to these offices, the third floor also contains a secretarial pool, a small faculty lounge, and the offices of the Bureau of Business Research. The Bureau office consists of an outer office for secretarial use, four private offices for the director and the research staff, and a small soundproof room for calculating machines.

The dedicatory ceremonies, which were held on Friday, May 4, began at 2:30 P.M. sharp in the auditorium in the presence of a substantial group of students, faculty, local business men and alumni. Dean Erwin Gaumnitz of Wisconsin's School of

OFFICES OF THE STENOGRAPHIC POOL for the faculty are most attractive and centrally located in the new building.

Commerce opened the program with a few brief remarks about the new building which he concluded with an introduction of Dean Emeritus Fay Elwell, who served as toastmaster of the program. The invocation was given by Reverend John R. Collins of the University Presbyterian Church, followed by a presentation of the new building to the University by Mrs. Glen M. Wise, Secretary of the State of Wisconsin. Mr. Oscar Rennebohm, Regent of the University, accepted it on behalf of the University. Remarks were made by President E. B. Fred, prior to addresses by Thomas H. Carroll, Jr., Vice President of the Ford Foundation, and Donald B. Woodward, Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Vick Chemical Company. Concluding the ceremonies were a period for refreshments and the official cornerstone laying. Serving as ushers were members of Psi Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi on the University of Wisconsin Campus.

The new $1,500,000 School of Commerce building on the Wisconsin campus is not only a very beautiful structure on its sloping bank, but it is also a most practical building which promises to serve the faculty and students well in the years ahead.

THE BUREAU OF BUSINESS RESEARCH has its own modern suite of offices in the new School of Commerce Building.

New York All-Year-Round Vacation City Awaits Delta Sigma Pi's Golden Anniversary

THE MOST EXCITING all-year-round visitor center in the world is New York City, whose many fascinating attractions make it a World's Fair 365 days of the year. All this is awaiting the delegations to our 50th anniversary and 21st Grand Chapter Congress, August 27-30, 1957.

New York has miles of intriguing shops with wares from all corners of the globe, galleries filled with art treasures, high-vaulted churches, and beautiful parks. It has world famous restaurants and hotels, theaters, zoos, tall buildings, museums of past history and history in the making, and the City's newest sight-seeing attraction, the United Nations.

Yet a trip to New York, magnificent as it is, still remains one of the greatest vacation bargains available anywhere. For only ten cents, for instance, one can take a 30-minute boat ride to Staten Island and back, and on that trip see the Statue of Liberty, the New York skyline and the great ships in the harbor. The New York Convention & Visitors Bureau hails this as the world's greatest sight-seeing "buy." For only 15 cents, a visitor may travel as many as 22.6 miles in speedy subways, an economical way to get from one interesting section of the city to another.

Whatever your interests, you can indulge in them on a vacation in New York. If it's sports you want, with very few exceptions there's a big league baseball game every day during the season, nearby horse racing, polo, the National Horse Show, hockey, boxing, basketball and many other sports in large arenas and stadiums.

If it's astronomy, the Hayden Planetarium will spread before your eyes the heavens of yesterday, today or tomorrow.

If it's theatre, the opportunities are unequalled as you see by strolling about between 42nd and 59th Streets—everything from grand opera to revivals of movie hits of the twenties.

If it's high finance, take a look at Wall Street and visit the new reception center at the New York Stock Exchange.

If it's architecture, gaze up at the tower of the Empire State Building, look down from the observation towers at Rockefeller Center, see beautiful Lever House on Park Avenue and the new Manufacturers Trust "glass bank" on Fifth Avenue.

If it's natural history, there's the American Museum of Natural History, with its world-known collection.

If it's churches, there is the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Temple Emanu-El, the Little Church Around the Corner, St. Patrick's Cathedral and over 2,500 others of all creeds and beliefs.

If it's open spaces, well, you wouldn't go to New York to find them, but as a matter of fact you can find some fairly large spaces. On Manhattan Island, Central Park alone, with its zoo, lakes, malls, pathways and gardens, covers more than 800 acres, which would make a fair-sized farm in almost any section of the West.

And New York City is not only a great place to visit; it's easy to get to. Passengers may alight from 12 major railroads, 40 buslines, 30 airlines, approximately 125 steamship lines and thousands of privately-owned automobiles. Except for air travel, the last step in all these journeys is by way of the City's 40 tunnels and bridges or any one of its 11 ferries.

Many visitors find that it takes a shorter time to get to New York than it does to get to many other communities throughout the nation. Reason: the vast number of non-stop or specially routed trains, planes and buses scheduled for the great metropolis, plus the excellent network of highways routing traffic to

New York. The new thruways and turnpikes, some completed, some still under construction, will further facilitate auto and bus travel to the City, with considerable savings to the visitor in time, fuel and equipment.

And once visitors arrive they find that New York, truly the Wonder City, lives up to all their fondest expectations: that they get and see more for their money than probably in any other city in the world.

New York has been called the most dramatic city in the world. This phrase can have many interpretations. It can mean the way in which the city mushroomed compared to old-world cities, or it can mean the sudden grandeur of the spectacle of New York as seen by the new comer on shipboard as he catches a glimpse of tower after tower of tall buildings. It can mean the approach by car or bus over the George Washington Bridge or along the West bank of the Hudson, or it can mean the magnificent sight that greets the plane passenger—by day it looks, indeed, like an "alabaster city," by night incredibly jewel-like, sparkling there below: a great brooch, 12½ miles long, and 2¼ miles across at its widest, which holds 13,000,000 annual visitors, and a population of approximately 8,000,000 from every corner of the globe.

Within the area dwell perhaps the most cosmopolitan people on earth—there are more people of Italian birth than there are in Venice, more Irishmen than in Dublin, more Jews than in Israel. There are some forty different languages and dialects spoken and written in New York (not counting the U.N.) and some twenty newspapers published in languages other than English.

THE FAMOUS Brooklyn Bridge completed in 1883 will be one of the New York points of interest to the delegates of the 21st Grand Chapter Congress in New York in August 1957.

The newest attraction that New York City offers to citizenry and visitors alike is the United Nations. The United Nations Permanent Headquarters occupies an 18 acre, six-block area between 42nd and 48th Streets, between First Avenue and the East River. The public entrance is on the north end of the Assembly Building near 46th Street. Paid, guided, one-hour tours of the Headquarters are now operating every day from 9:30 A.M. until 6:00 P.M.

New York combines, with its finance and its industry, marvelous facilities for education and play. Beyond all question, it is the nation's educational center. It is the home of no less than 37 institutions of higher learning, including 13 general colleges and universities, eight schools of larger universities, five technical institutions and four schools of theology.

The largest educational institution is New York University which, in point of the number of students, is one of the largest in the United States. Columbia University is the second largest in size. Other institutions of higher education include the College of the City of New York, a city-supported university; Hunter College, also supported by the city; Fordham University, Manhattan College, Pratt Institute and Cornell Medical School.

There are, of course, many institutions besides colleges contributing to New York's cultural side. There is, for instance, the Metropolitan Museum of Art with its magnificent exhibits of painting, sculpture, tapestries, antiques and other art objects, covering the art of 5,000 years, and housed in 287 galleries. The American Museum of Natural History, with its unusual collection and exhibits of mammals, birds, minerals and other objects of scientific and historical interest, is world-known. Here the history of man may be traced through eons of time.

There are many other museums of importance in a number of fields; the Hispanic Society, the Museum of the American Indian, the Museum of the City of New York, the Museum of French Art, the Museum of Modern Art, the Museum of Science and Industry, the Hayden Planetarium, the New York Historical Society, the Frick Museum, Jumel Mansion and the Whitney Museum of American Art. And there are thousands of private and semi-private galleries offering attractions to citizens and visitors alike.

In the field of nature there are the New York Botanical Gardens, with a truly amazing collection of living flora gathered from all over the world, Brooklyn Botanical Gardens, Zoos with excellent collections of animals in the Bronx, Brooklyn, Staten Island and Manhattan's Central Park.

And, of course, New York's skyscrapers are among the marvels of the world. Tallest of them is the Empire State Building, which is 1,472 feet high. Next is the Chrysler Building which towers to 1,045. Actually, the city boasts some fifty skyscrapers, many of them marvels of beauty and distinction. In the latter class the Woolworth Building, one of the earliest skyscrapers, belongs—all 792 feet of it.

Rockefeller Center, with its 15 buildings planned in the fabulously valuable twelve acres it occupies, is a definite must on the list of every visitor to New York. The slim beauty of the 70-story RCA Building rises as the theme of the development and fronts the Prometheus Fountain by summer, the magical skating rink by winter, and all-year-round the charming Channel Gardens, always planted in accordance with the seasons. And Rockefeller Center is the site of the world-famous Radio City Music Hall. But, in toto, there's so much of interest to the visitor in Rockefeller Center, that the best thing to do is take a guided tour. In the Center there are tours, too, of N.B.C.'s radio and television studios.

FRAMED BY SKYSCRAPERS is New York's Central Park, 840 acres begun in 1856 and located in the heart of Manhattan. A beauty spot to see when attending the 21st Grand Chapter Congress.

There are those who boast that New York is the world's true "City of Bridges," for leading into the city, over the waterways surrounding it are more than 20 miles of bridge structure. The great Triborough Bridge with approaches is 17 miles long. New York's bridges constitute another group of wonders. Among bridges across the East River, there's the Brooklyn Bridge, first of the great suspension bridges to be built. Over the Hudson at 178th Street to New Jersey, arches the George Washington Bridge. One of the latest of the great bridges to be built, it is considered by many to be the most beautiful suspension bridge in the world. Including approaches it is over 11,130 feet in length. For an interesting view of the city's bridges, and a good idea of the Island's size and shape, the Visitors Bureau recommends a three-hour sightseeing cruise on one of the yachts that circle Manhattan in Spring, Summer and Fall.

Many entertainment features of New York are free or at a nominal cost, and in the field of professional amusement, the city out-distances any other in America. There are approximately 700 theatres including motion picture and legitimate. It is the home of first rate theatre productions and often these include screen as well as stage.

In the musical world New York is equally important. The Metropolitan Opera Company has among its members many of the world's greatest operatic singers who each season offer an opera program equalled nowhere else in America, possibly nowhere in the world. The New York Philharmonic, other symphony orchestras, concert artists, light opera, musical groups playing the greatest jazz, all these add to the infinite variety and quality of New York's musical entertainment.

New York is big. It has over 5,000 miles of streets—enough, if laid end to end, to stretch across the United States and almost all the way back. And every 24 hours it is estimated that 17,000,000 telephone calls are made, vibrating over the 13,000,000 miles of underground telephone wire in the city.

And New York is well equipped with hotels. The variety is such that, within reasonable limits, the visitor to New York may spend as much or as little as he pleases. Over 400 hotels provide more than 160,000 rooms, more than 150,000 baths. Several of the city's luxurious hotels have more than 2,000 rooms.

It is the sum total of the foregoing, the bigness, the bustle, the greatness, that indeed makes New York "the most dramatic city in the world."

Plan now to join the throngs of Deltasigs that will be on hand in August 1957 for our Golden Anniversary celebration at the Biltmore Hotel.

SYMBOLIC OF THE UNITED STATES and one of the famous sites in New York is the Statue of Liberty. Bartholdi's colossal figure on Bedloe's Island is visited by thousands of people each year and is bound to be an attraction for the Deltasigs attending the 21st. Grand Chapter Congress.

THE UNITED NATIONS BUILDINGS in the foreground blend perfectly with New York's and the world's two tallest buildings, The Empire State and The Chrysler. Everyone attending the Golden Anniversary of Delta Sigma Pi in New York in 1957 will want to visit the 39 story Secretariat and the low domed General Assembly Buildings of the United Nations.

The dates of August 28th through the 30th of 1957 have been set for the Golden Anniversary of Delta Sigma Pi. These days are Wednesday, Thursday and Friday preceding Labor Day. Most Deltasigs will arrive in New York on Tuesday so some sort of a program is being considered for the latter part of that day too.

Special college rates have been obtained from the famous New York Biltmore Hotel, located in the heart of New York adjacent to the Grand Central Terminal. Within walking distance is the United Nations Building, Radio City and the theatre district of 42nd and Broadway. Close by are also the well known Fifth Avenue shops for those mementos and gifts for those left at home. From a visitor's standpoint there is no other city quite as exciting as New York. This coupled with the program being planned by the 21st Grand Chapter Congress Committee makes an unbeatable combination, and one which you can't afford to miss. Each issue of THE DELTASIG from now until August will unfold the details of the Golden Anniversary program. Watch for this news to come.

It is also imperative that you begin taking steps to assure your attendance. As usual there will be an Advance Registration Fee of $4.00 for the men and $1.00 for the ladies. Several hundred of these were purchased by those attending the 20th Grand Chapter Congress in Detroit in September, 1955 and many more have been sold since that date. You may secure yours and one for your wife by sending your check to Delta Sigma Pi Golden Anniversary, 330 South Campus Avenue, Oxford, Ohio. Don't Delay, start today.

THE WORLD OVER

Kenneth B. White Fills Post in Southwestern Region

KENNETH B. WHITE, Boston, has been appointed by the Grand Council to fill the vacancy in its ranks created by the resignation

KENNETH B. WHITE, Boston,
Director of the Southwestern Region.

of B. C. Butler, Director of the Southwestern Region of Delta Sigma Pi. Brother White is not new to the Grand Council or to the chapters and alumni clubs in the Southwestern Region as he has previously served as Director of that Region and as Grand President of Delta Sigma Pi.

No one has a more enviable record in Delta Sigma Pi than Ken as he has been instrumental in the growth of the entire Southwestern Region and has participated in the installation of practically every chapter in that Region. Ken was also the General Chairman of the 18th Grand Chapter Congress held in Dallas, Texas in 1951, which was one of the most memorable in the history of the fraternity.

In Dallas Ken has a very successful accounting practice, and has several Deltasigs working for him. He is also a past president of the Dallas Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants and takes a very active part in the Unitarian Church.

It is with sincere regret that we announce the resignation of B. C. Butler, whose new business affiliation makes it impractical for him to continue as Regional Director, yet we are pleased to have someone as interested and capable as Ken White to take over the responsibilities.

NEW ORLEANS

THE NEW ORLEANS Alumni Club of Delta Sigma Pi held a summer "Jambalaya" in July. It was called "Jambalaya" for that stands for a conglomeration of good things all mixed together, and that's what the outing was!

Early in the evening over 30 couples gathered at a spacious and beautiful country estate, facilities made available through Brother Emmett Assenheimer to enjoy a real ball.

Foodwise, they roasted wieners and marshmallows and drank ever-lovin' beer. Entertainmentwise, they danced (did you ever jitterbug balancing an orange between your forehead and your date's?), they swam (feature a 4½ foot deep pool and a swim relay, the relay-object being a soggy raw wiener!), and tried for entrance prizes (anything from delectable cookies, baked by the hands of the Delta Sigma Pi Wives' Club, to a five-gallon can of motor oil that the recipient had to lug home).

On hand from the Tulane faculty were School of Commerce Dean, Paul V. Grambsch, and the Tulane University Vice-President Robert W. French. Incidentally, recently Brother French was appointed Director of the New Orleans Port Commission, an outstanding position and honor for an outstanding Deltasig.

A great time was had by all, but there are two questions still unanswered—who threw District Director Paul Dastugue (clothes and all) into the pool, and did Brother Marshal LaPoutge ever catch that alligator? See you later.—MAX BARNETT, JR.

1956 Chapter Efficiency Contest Record Ties 1955 Accomplishments

FOR THE second time in the history of Delta Sigma Pi 36 chapters tied in the 1956 Chapter Efficiency Contest with a total of 100,000 points. An additional 16 chapters scored 85,000 points or more to place on the Honor Roll, making a total of 52 chapters out of the 84 that participated that were on top or close to it.

The winning chapters, scoring the maximum of 100,000 points were: Beta Chapter at Northwestern, Delta Chapter at Marquette, Iota

Chapter at Kansas, Kappa Chapter at Georgia State, Mu Chapter at Georgetown, Pi Chapter at Georgia, Rho Chapter at California, Phi Chapter at Southern California, Chi Chapter at Johns Hopkins, Psi Chapter at Wisconsin, Alpha Beta Chapter at Missouri, Alpha Eta Chapter at South Dakota, Alpha Theta Chapter at Cincinnati, Alpha Kappa Chapter at Buffalo, Alpha Omicron Chapter at Ohio, Alpha Rho Chapter at Colorado, Alpha Omega Chapter at De Paul, Beta Gamma Chapter at South Carolina, Beta Epsilon Chapter at Oklahoma, Beta Eta Chapter at Florida, Beta Xi Chapter at Rider, Beta Omicron Chapter at Rutgers, Beta Pi Chapter at Kent State, Beta Sigma Chapter at St. Louis, Beta Upsilon at Texas Tech, Beta Chi Chapter at Tulsa, Beta Psi Chapter at Louisiana Tech, Gamma Delta Chapter at Mississippi State, Gamma Zeta Chapter at Memphis State, Gamma Eta Chapter at Omaha, Gamma Kappa Chapter at Michigan State, Gamma Xi Chapter at Santa Clara, Gamma Omicron Chapter at San Francisco, Gamma Pi

Chapter at Loyola, Gamma Rho Chapter at Detroit, and Delta Epsilon Chapter at North Texas State.

Once again Kappa Chapter at Georgia State and Alpha Beta Chapter at Missouri were among the winners. For Kappa it was number 20 while at Missouri it was 16. For the first time Rho at California, and Gamma Zeta at Memphis State finished on top with 100,000 points.

The Chapter Efficiency Contest was established during the college year 1931-32 and has definitely proven itself to be of real value in increasing chapter interest. It has also provided an adequate yardstick of measurement of chapter achievement. The Chapter Efficiency Contest is divided into five major divisions: Professional Activities, Scholarship, Membership, Finances and Chapter Initiative and Administration. A maximum of 20,000 points is permitted in each division, thus a final standing of 100,000 points indicates a perfect record for the year's work. Points are awarded for many phases of chapter activity such as professional meetings, individual and chapter scholarship, pledge training course, chapter publicity, contributions to The DELTASIG, the proper handling of finances, collection of dues, payment of bills, the initiation of an adequate number of members, attendance at business meetings, chapter publications, and the filing of important reports.

Robert French Named Head of New Orleans Port

ROBERT W. FRENCH, Texas, previously a vice president of Tulane University, has been appointed director of the nation's number two port, New Orleans. The board considered many for the directorship and decided that Bob French was outstanding because of his wide background in finance, economics, commerce and trade. The director's duties embrace the over-all management of the port's affairs, including the public relations program locally, nationally, and internationally.

Brother French came to Tulane from the University of Texas, where he was professor of business administration and director of the bureau of business research. While at Tulane he initiated seminars on port administration and also started and developed the now internationally recognized forums on trade and commerce. During his career, Dr. French has been a consultant to industry on tax and regulation problems and has served the federal government on special assignments related to foreign funds control.

BUFFALO

ALL OF THE BLOOD, sweat and tears which went into the revitalization of the Buffalo Alumni Club paid off on Saturday night, May 19, at the Homestead in Niagara Falls, when over 100 brothers and their wives attended our Second Annual Reunion dinner and dance for all Deltasigs in the Buffalo Area.

Brother Franklin A. Tober, Member of the Grand Council and president of the Buffalo Alumni Club, explained how new life was instilled in the organization by promoting a closer relationship with the Central Office and creating a tight bond with Alpha Kappa Chapter. He thanked the arrangements committee headed by Brother Jim Cooley and the ladies who telephoned the entire membership list. These ladies were organized by Mrs. Herb Winterstern and included Mrs. Jim Cooley, Mrs. Phil Lombardo, Mrs. Warren Hildebrandt, Mrs. Norman Schlifke, Mrs. Gordon Neidrauer and Mrs. Cliff McCarthy.

Brother Tober then introduced the Reverend Marshall Ludas, Chaplain of the Erie County Jail, who entertained us with stories from his vast experience with the inmates there. Each story, while entertaining, pointed up some moral values and was designed to teach us how to keep out of the sheltered halls of our penal institutions.

Brother Jack Barrett, president of Alpha Kappa Chapter, thanked his retiring staff and introduced the newly elected officers who will be installed by a team from the Buffalo Alumni Club at a dinner dance to be held June 16 at the American Automobile Association's Clubhouse in Clarence, N.Y.

Brother Barrett also endorsed the integration of the social activities program of Alpha Kappa Chapter and the Buffalo Alumni Club. This policy was inaugurated by the Buffalo Alumni Club immediately after its reorganization in 1954 and was responsible this year for doubling the attendance at our Founders' Day Celebration, The "Rose of Deltasig" Dinner, the Initiations and the Reunion Dinner.

Also on our list of things to do in the near future is the formation of a Buffalo Wives' Club and for this we would like any suggestions from similar clubs already in action.

We are all looking forward to another year of close association with all Deltasigs in the Buffalo Area and feel that we now have achieved our twin goals of active co-operation with Alpha Kappa Chapter and a closer tie-in with the Central Office.—JERRY JOHANNES

GEORGE M. GIBBS, Virginia, is to begin a three year term of service on the administrative staff of the united Protestant enterprise as its assistant to the vice president for finance of International Christian University in Japan. Following a tour of duty in Japan and Korea, he returned to the University of Virginia and completed his work for a B.A. degree and the Master of Arts degree in economics and accounting.
