A World of Brotherhood:
Grand Chapter 1995

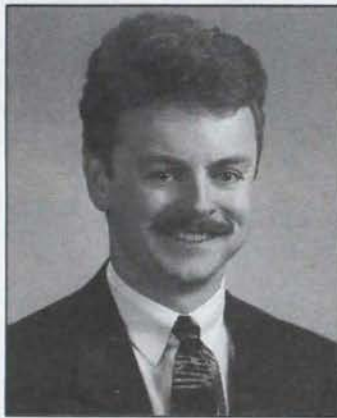

Focus ON THE FRATERNITY

One of the joys of serving as Grand President is welcoming new chapters into our fraternity. During the past few months I had the privilege of attending installation ceremonies for three new chapters. Nu Xi at the University of Missouri-Kansas City, Nu Omicron at Our Lady of Holy Cross College, and Nu Pi at Kennesaw State College are all fine additions to our fraternal family. Our new Brothers are to be commended for their hard work and dedication.

Expansion of Delta Sigma Pi to additional college campuses continues to be a priority item as we plan for the next millennium. In addition to our three new chapters, we currently have 14 colonies across the nation. These groups are at various stages in the colonization process, which leads to their installation as a collegiate chapter. We anticipate installing a significant number during the coming year.

Our success in expansion has been, and will continue to be, contingent upon a number of factors; first, is the ability to identify potential expansion locations and secure permission to begin the colonization process; second, is the support of current Deltasigs who volunteer their time and efforts throughout the process; third, are the efforts of the students themselves; fourth, is the support of the college's administration and faculty; and fifth, is the monitoring and support provided by our staff.

Randy L. Hultz

We have been quite successful in securing permission to begin colonization efforts on campuses that have been targeted for expansion. Much of this success is due to the benefits we offer students and schools, as well as the excellent reputation our existing chapters have established on their own campuses. Given the established communication channels among most business school deans, maintaining that reputation continues to be critical to our success.

Establishing new chapters through our colonization process is very labor-intensive. It requires the time and efforts of many individuals. The minimum standards our procedures demand require significant planning and implementation on the part of colony members. These standards are similar to those we expect our active collegiate chapters to maintain on a recurring basis.

While the colony members themselves must take the initiative, we have found that the guidance, support, and dedication of numerous volunteers and staff are often critical keys that distinguish success from failure. In addition, the on-campus support and encouragement provided by faculty and administration is crucial. The fraternity owes a debt of gratitude to these individuals for their efforts.

Continuous, planned and sustainable growth is the hallmark of any successful member-based organization. Delta Sigma Pi is no exception. As an international fraternity, we must continue to recruit and install new chapters, just as our existing collegiate and alumni chapters must recruit new members.

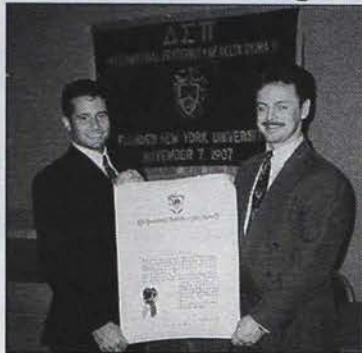

As a Deltasig you can play a valuable role in our recruiting and expansion efforts. There are many opportunities (with varying levels of commitment) for interested members to be involved in this aspect of fraternity operations. Please contact The Central Office or a member of our Board of Directors for additional information on ways you can assist with any of our programs. We appreciate your continued dedication and support.

Delta Sigma Pi welcomed 125 new Brothers as charter members of three new chapters. Nu Xi chapter at the University of Missouri-Kansas City in Kansas City, Missouri; Nu Omicron Chapter at Our Lady of Holy Cross College in New Orleans, Louisiana; and Nu Pi Chapter at Kennesaw State College in Marietta, Georgia, all joined the ranks of the fraternity and received from all of us welcome and congratulations.

With the addition of these new chapters, three new universities will have the advantage of a professional fraternity on campus to provide professional exposure for all students of business. The surrounding communities will also have the benefit of community service programs sponsored by these chapters. Members chosen from among

The fraternity's 235th collegiate chapter, and the eighth in the state of Missouri, came into existence on May 21, 1994, as Nu Xi Chapter was installed at the University of Missouri-Kansas City. On that Michael S. Whitsitt and Brothers from Alpha Beta Chapter at the University of Missouri-Columbia, Iota Nu Chapter at Northeast Missouri State University, Iota Omicron Chapter at Central Missouri State, and Mu Upsilon Chapter at Baker University.

Following the installation of the chapter, a reception and banquet was held at the Adams Mark Hotel. Midwestern Regional Director Shanda R. Gray served as Toastmaster for the ceremony. The Invocation was given by Nu Xi Chapter member Paul J. Fontana, and Greetings were extended from the university by Faculty Member and Nu Xi Chapter Faculty Advisor Dr. Leon H. Robertson.

A history of the School of Business was provided by Dr. William B. Eddy, Dean of the Bloch School of Business, and Nu Xi Chapter Secretary Jennifer D. Hulbert presented the history of Beta Sigma Beta Colony.

Grand President Randy L. Hultz then presented the charge and charter to Chapter President Eric W. Chelline, and Director of Chapter Services Dale M. Clark presented Fraternal Greetings from chapters and Brothers across the country.

The University of Missouri Kansas City was spawned by city built at the origin of the Oregon and Santa Fe trails. These roadways to the West began at Old Westport, just a few miles from the present campus. In the 1890's, talk of founding a university in Kansas City became an increasing part of the city's sense of growth, but it was not until the 1920's that talk turned to action when the Chamber of Commerce appointed a committee to consider the possibility of a university.

Finally, in 1929, the charter for the University of Kansas City was granted. In 1933 the University of Kansas City announced that classes would begin. Impetus for growth was provided by the affiliation of several professional schools with the university, which added to the prestige already established by a strong College of Arts and Sciences.

On July 25, 1963, the University of Kansas City became part of the University of Missouri System. The university's name was changed in 1963, and the campus has experienced unparalleled growth since then. Enrollment has more than doubled, reach

Executive Director Michael J. Mazur, Jr., Regional Director Sherry G. Flood, Nu Omicron Chapter President William G. Dempsey, Faculty Advisor James A. Rabalais, Jr., Grand President Randy L. Hultz, Southern Provincial Vice President Elizabeth M. Keith, and 1993 Collegian of the Year April S. Garrett gather for the presentation of the Nu Omicron Chapter Charter.

With the addition of these new chapters, three new universities will have the advantage of a professional fraternity on campus to provide professional exposure for all students of business.

Our Lady of Holy Cross College in New Orleans, Louisiana, is the home of Nu Omicron Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, the fraternity's 236th collegiate chapter, and the 11th in the state of Louisiana. During the installation on May 7, 1994, 48 collegians, six Faculty Members, and two Honorary Members joined the ranks of our Brotherhood.

In 1851, the Sisters of Marianites began to build the Immaculate Conception Industrial School to instruct orphan girls. This parent school of Our Lady of Holy Cross was dedicated in 1866. To prepare teachers for the many schools the Marianites opened in Southern Louisiana, the Louisiana State Board of Education granted the Marianites the right to open a Normal School in 1916 which functioned as Holy Cross Normal. In 1938, the Louisiana State Department of Education approved a program which would lead to the conferring of the Bachelor of Arts Degree.

In the spring of 1960, the college moved to its new quarters and changed its name to Our Lady of Holy Cross College and, in 1967, the first men were admitted. The degree program has now expanded to include Business Administration, Humanities, Natural Sciences, Nursing, Social Sciences, and graduate studies in Education and Marriage and Family Therapy.

The Division of Business and Economics was established in 1976. Originally, degrees were offered in accounting and general business administration but, over the years, management and marketing degrees have been added to the curriculum.

In 1989, a group of business students at Our Lady of Holy Cross College organized and formed the Business Leadership Association known on campus as B.L.A. The purpose of B.L.A. was to form a group specifically for business majors in order to represent the Division of Business and Economics at collegiate events, sponsor social gatherings and community service projects, establish long lasting friendships between fellow business students, and to sponsor and promote activities that would enhance the professional development of the business students.

The officers of the Business Leadership Association recognized the need to affiliate with an international fraternal organization and found a close match to their own purpose with the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. Steps were taken to colonize and the Business Leadership Association became Beta Lambda Alpha Colony of Delta Sigma Pi in November of 1991.

Deltasigs from throughout the Southern Province, and nationwide, gathered in New Orleans, Louisiana, on May 7, 1994, for the installation of Nu Omicron Chapter at Our Lady of Holy Cross College. Members of the installation team included Grand President Randy L. Hultz, Southern Provincial Vice President Elizabeth M. Keith, Gulf South Regional Director Sherry G. Flood, Executive Director Michael J. Mazur and Brothers from Delta Nu Chapter at Loyola University, Epsilon Nu Chapter at the University of New Orleans and Eta Upsilon Chapter at the University of West Florida.

Following the installation a reception and banquet was held at the English Turn Country Club. Gulf South Regional Director Sherry G. Flood served as Toastmaster and the Invocation was given by Coordinator

Each chapter in the fraternity has the opportunity to nominate a member for this award. From all regional nominees, a regional finalist is selected by a screening committee within the region and from these finalist, a national winner is chosen by the Executive Committee of Delta Sigma Pi. Established in 1971, this award recognizes the most outstanding collegiate member of the fraternity as evidenced by scholarship, extra curricular activities, fraternity services, demonstration of responsibility to self and others, and representation of conduct according to the highest standards of business ethics and integrities.

Adelphi Kappa Rho

Mr. John Muldoon, a professional resume writer, came to address the chapter in April. A sample resume was handed out and the Brothers were asked to critique it. We were also asked to judge whether or not we would grant an interview. A discussion was generated, and we were asked to give a specific reason as to why or why not the person should be interviewed. We were taught to really think carefully as to what is documented on our resumes. Many ideas were created and invaluable assistance was provided. We were offered free consultation on our resumes and phone numbers for future references.

Akron Theta Kappa

Professional events for Theta Kappa Chapter started off with a recruitment event, "A Day With Deltasigs" which featured Kevin Taylor speaking on Professional Ethics, Christine Braman speaking about the value of student organizations, and lunch provided by Papa John's Pizza.

The next professional event featured Dr. Les Coleman, CEO of The Lubrizol Corporation on effective management techniques. Then there was a presentation by outgoing dean of the CBA, Dean Peterson and a tour of NASA Lewis Research Center.

Theta Kappa Chapter participated in several community service activities from giving blood for the American Red Cross to a tricycle race for MDA. The Brothers helped the Summit County Childrens Services with their annual Easter Party. Members also participated in a walk for multiple sclerosis and picked up litter for the Adopt-A-Highway program.

Alabama Alpha Sigma

Personality types, total quality management, career opportunities, globalization, and leadership qualities were just some of the various topics the chapter chose for the professional program this year. One of the more interesting subjects was Everett Nix's "What to do with other people's money."

Community service projects focused on a can food and clothing drive, and our university service project honored our faculty with a reception.

Angelo State Eta Theta

Eta Theta Chapter has faced a very challenging year. The success of our community service activities has given our chapter a new sense of pride and satisfaction. From keeping our two mile stretch of Texas highway clean to helping an elderly lady maintain her home, we have served the San Angelo community.

Our pledge program, has gone through many drastic cuts and changes, but we were able to come up with more enjoyable activities to make up for the changes. These adventures among many others, such as homecoming, brought Eta Theta Chapter members much closer.

Arizona Gamma Psi

Throughout first semester the Brothers of Gamma Psi Chapter were coordinating plans for the 1994 Business Week which took place in February. Co-sponsored by the chapter and the BPA Student Council, this event had two objectives.

First, to create a program to promote career development which is both informative to underclassmen in selecting a field of study and helpful to upperclassmen looking to secure a career after graduation.

Second, to create a sense of community within the business college by encouraging faculty-student communication and interaction among the many business related organizations and interested students.

Five events took place throughout the week, Business Organization Day, Professional Recruiting Seminars, Career Showcase, "What Can My Major do for Me?," and a Faculty/ Student/Professional Reception.

Arizona State Gamma Omega

During first semester Gamma Omega Chapter assisted the ASU Career Services in their annual "Career Fiesta." We volunteered our time to assist corporate recruiters in attendance, while at the same time learning about many different companies and their respective industries. We also had Kathy Sweeny, President and owner of "The Write Resume," come to speak to our chapter on the topic of interviewing techniques for recent college graduates.

In April we had the pleasure of three distinguished Deltasig alumni visiting our chapter for a professional event. Brothers Charles "Buzz" Sutton, Carl Schneider, and Bill Leonard participated in a panel discussion on "Business Ethics."

Auburn Beta Lambda

In the course of the year our chapter has greatly improved in all areas of chapter operations. As part of our community service program we renovated a house with Habitat for Humanity. Professionally we heard from 3 speakers this quarter. Topics included entrepreneurship and job interviews. In an effort to raise money, we participated in a campus-wide flea market and members donated baked goods and articles of clothing. The remaining clothing was then donated to Goodwill Industries.

This summer our executive committee will be busy planning for the upcoming year, and Brother Nick Gibietis will be traveling to Oxford, Ohio for the Leadership Academy.

Baker Mu Upsilon

Mu Upsilon Chapter added 13 new members this spring to the already 24 active members. The chapter has voted and filled the positions for its executive officers.

In March the chapter hosted two speakers. George Lavid from the U.S. Department of Commerce and International Trade, and Julie Love from Kansas International, Inc. The speakers compared successful and unsuccessful business practices. A campus wide mock interview session was presented by the chapter in April.

Ball State Epsilon Xi

Our year started with three Brothers traveling 3000 miles by car to the Grand Chapter Congress in Anaheim. Epsilon Xi Chapter then coordinated the regions' first joint initiation. We intended it to include all of the chapters, but circumstances prevailing, we still initiated 23 new Brothers. We had 15 from Epsilon Xi and 8 from Kappa Sigma at IUPUI. It took a little work, and a lot of patience and phone calls, but in the end it was an experience never to be forgotten.

Last spring semester the chapter kicked off the 1st Annual Alumni Fund. A database was designed to keep better records of the 800+ alumni, and then letters were sent to the most recent alumni (last 15 years). Subscriptions to the chapter newsletter, t-shirts, and certificates were some of the items given to donating alumni.

Barry Mu Sigma

Its graduating time and Mu Sigma is saying good-bye to seven of their brothers. For the Mu Sigma Chapter, it will be a great loss, for these brothers not only played a crucial part in the creation of the chapter, but also placed the Mu Sigma Chapter on par with being the most improved Chapter.

With the knowledge and memories they have left behind, the chapter can only go forward and continue to increase brotherhood which the Fraternity was built upon. On behalf of the brothers and alumni of the Mu Sigma Chapter, we will like to say thanks and wish you the best of luck in the future.

Baylor Beta Iota

Homecoming at Baylor is by far one of the biggest events of the year. The chapter was proud to be represented in the homecoming parade by Heather Disher, this year's Rose of Deltasig. This was the first time Beta Iota Chapter had entered a float in seven years and we placed first in the class C competition.

We tried a new fund raiser this year, an all-university pumpkin carving contest. This October event had several categories in which constants could win the $500+ in prizes donated by local businesses. The chapter hopes to establish this as an annual fund raising event.

Bentley Lambda Tau

Lambda Tau Chapter's professional events included a chat with Peter DiSessa from Ferrofluidics about his company and new product; an excellent presentation on interviewing skills from Peter Carter from Procter and Gamble; and a speech about Financial Services from Regional Vice President of Primerica, Ned Leone. Michael Langran, a motivational speaker spoke to us about positioning ourselves in the marketplace. His presentation followed a brief persuasive presentation on ideas about fund-raising events. David Clarkson, Director of Human Resources for Arthur Andersen gave a presentation on recruiting and Rose Rosenbaum, gave us a tour of Putnam Securities Investments.

Members from the Western Region attend the area conference at the University of California-Berkeley.

Boston Gamma

Gamma Chapter is very excited about one of our continuous community service projects, the Beantown Sneakers. Developed by the chapter in response to area teachers, the program's goals are twofold: 1) to expand upon the existing social science curriculum of sixth and seventh grade teachers by teaching and presenting exciting business material which will help students appreciate the intricacies of the business world, and 2) to fulfill the purpose of our fraternity.

Fall semester 1993 was our first pilot program. We taught in one classroom in five one-hour lessons/visits to the classroom, and approximately eight Brothers were involved in each lesson. This program is currently under evaluation to make changes for the next school year, and should be even better than before!

Bowling Green State Theta Pi

This year Theta Pi Chapter earned a senatorial seat in Undergraduate Student Government (USG). Our senator position lasts only for a one year term and will be up for consideration every year. Because of this instability, the chapter is committed to making Delta Sigma Pi a prominent and productive member of USG so that we may retain our position for years to come.

Our professional program featured the financial director of the Cleveland Rock 'n' Roll Hall of Fame and Museum and tours of Cooper Tire and the Wall Street Journal. Community and university service activities focused on a faculty breakfast each semester and a square dance for the mentally challenged.

California-Berkeley Rho

Because the job market is so competitive, graduates need an even greater advantage than before. To meet these needs Rho Chapter enacted its Corporate Interaction Program. Our alumni relations chair contacted several Rho Chapter alumni Brothers to see if they would be interested in serving as mentors for the collegiate Brothers. We matched accounting majors with Deltasig alumni working in accounting firms, management consulting majors with alumni in the field of consulting, and so on. The mentors serve in a counseling capacity by answering questions and providing advice for the chapter members. More than half of our chapter participated in this program.

California-Riverside Lambda Chi

Lambda Chi Chapter has several on going activities which we have committed ourselves to. One of these is the Business 10 awards, which awards students in introduction to Business. We also cleaned up Huntington Beach, participated in the Los Angeles Marathon, did two can drives and participated in the University of California-Riverside open house.

Another important project is the Delta Sigma Pi sponsored Eveline Petrie Scholarship for those students most improved on a quarterly basis.

This year the chapter also hosted 12 professional speakers ranging from retail to the State Board of Equalization; did two newsletters, a completed yearbook and did widespread advertising of the fraternity around campus. The chapter also did extensive interaction with other chapters in and out of the region.

Cal State-Chico Epsilon Theta

Epsilon Theta Chapter held a "Students Helping Students" night to assist business and pre-business students in registering for courses in the Spring semester. This was also a great way to get a jump start in recruiting for the next semester.

One event we sponsor each semester is our Career Fair. The Brothers assist with the event by passing out programs at the door to students, working the information booth for both students and recruiters, passing out flyers to students on campus, and providing valet parking service for the recruiters. Over 40 recruiters attend this event, and this semester so much interest was generated that the fair was held an extra day.

Cal State-Fresno Iota Phi

Iota Phi Chapter held a very successful workshop this semester. Entitled "Workshop on Success: A View from Top Professionals," the seminar focused on three different business people in the Fresno area. Greg Wright, a financial planner with I.D.S. American Express; Catherine Bennett Frost, owner of Bennett Frost Temporary Personnel, and John Riddering, associate with GMA International Growth Marketing were on hand throughout the day to present different topics and answer any questions the students had.

This workshop, open to the entire campus, discussed issues and gave advice on financial planning, small business ownership, and advancement in large corporations. These issues emphasized succeeding in any economic environment and overcoming obstacles in accomplishing goals.

Cal State-Fullerton Lambda Sigma

Lambda Sigma Chapter decided early this year that we wanted to dispel the perception that raising money with good participation is impossible. One solution was to take a different approach to fund-raising by creating an incentive program to reward Brothers who actively participate. We decided on projects that would not require brothers to be present all at one time and projects that would reflect individual effort.

Fund-raising started with T-Shirt sales at Grand Chapter Congress. We also hosted a club night, sold merchant discount cards to university students, sold Entertainment Books and did sales through mail order for our T-shirts.

Cal State-Long Beach Lambda Phi

Lambda Phi Chapter participated in an Executive Shadow Day program in which the members accompanied a professional for an entire day's business. This program was carried out through the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber of Commerce matched students with a participating executive who was working in the student's field of study.

To promote scholarship, the chapter implemented a tutoring program within the chapter. Each Brother, if desired, indicated in which classes he or she could offer their tutoring services. This program took place through-out the semester.

Cal State-Northridge Iota Upsilon

Due to "faulty" relations with Mother Nature, our second semester plans fell through the cracks a bit, and operations took a little longer to get going than expected. The Los Angeles earthquake forced classes to be canceled until some sort of classroom facilities could be found. This resulted in a slow down in chapter activities. We are glad to say that the chapter is now up and running and classes have resumed. We would like to thank all the chapters and Brothers who sent words of encouragement to our chapter. It was very much appreciated.

Central Florida Theta Sigma

In an effort to increase Theta Sigma Chapter's involvement in the community, our chapter looked to other chapters to learn about the various community service projects they were involved in. The chapter was interested in a project that would help the environment and make Florida a cleaner place to live. We decided to adopt a highway in the fall semester and will continue with this project indefinitely. We encourage all chapters to adopt a highway and improve the look of their community. This timeless effort is worthwhile for both the chapter and the community.

Central Missouri Iota Omicron

Iota Omicron Chapter began the year with recruiting and participating in Homecoming activities. Eight members attended OTIS training. Halloween came and we were out Tick-or-Treating for canned goods for the Warrensburg Food Pantry and the '93 flood victims.

Our professional program was a great success with representation from IBM, Lady Baltimore Food and many others.

This year marked our chapter's 15th birthday. Over 120 alumni, collegiates and faculty attended the weekend's activities. Brother John Watton spoke about our first year as the Mu Chi Colony. Brother John Virgo dedicated an alumni scholarship to the chapter in Brother Charles G. Drake's name. Dr. Drake was honored by the dedication.

Christian Brothers Epsilon Psi

Mr. Jim Riggs, General Manager of the Memphis RiverKings Professional Hockey Team spoke to the chapter in April as part of our professional program. He spoke about the success of a pro-hockey team in Memphis (now 2 years old) and focused on the management skills necessary to run the team. He also highlighted the marketing aspects needed to start a team and make it affordable, while at the same time profitable. The RiverKings believe in sensitivity towards the fans.

Epsilon Psi Chapter also sponsored Ms. Wanda Kirby, President, Trainer, and Consultant, of Achievement Unlimited. She discussed self-esteem and how it affects productivity in the workplace. She believes that... "if you conceive it, if you believe it, then you can achieve it."

Cincinnati Alpha Theta

This has been an exciting year for Alpha Theta Chapter. Our professional events have strengthened our business skills and our community service events have strengthened our community. The highlights of our professional year included a tour of the Toyota plant in Kentucky and an etiquette dinner. This year has also been very special for us because it was our 70th birthday!

Alpha Theta Chapter would like to thank the Beta Gamma Chapter for a great Spring Fling, we'll be back next year!

Finally, congratulations and good luck to all of our graduating seniors and to next year's executive officers! Just remember to always look toward the future, but bear in mind the past.

Clemson Kappa Tau

Kappa Tau Chapter had various recruiting functions, including "Meet the Chapter" and a tailgate party.

In the fall we held Career Expo which is the chapters most significant annual professional event. More than 70 companies across several industries were represented and it gave students the opportunity to meet potential employers.

We also had members from Beta Gamma Chapter at the University of South Carolina come to visit our chapter meeting, listen to our speaker, and attend our Halloween costume party.

We also had various fund-raising events such as a car wash, and apparel sales to other organizations.

We visited Shriner's Hospital for underprivileged children.

Colorado-Boulder Alpha Rho

Fund-raising projects of Alpha Rho Chapter included working the concession stands at Colorado University women's and men's basketball games and a corporate car wash.

Professional activities included a resume workshop presented for both members and prospective pledges and a tour to the Rockies Brewery here in Boulder.

Community service theme was "interaction." There was a Valentine's Party with Y.M.C.A. after-school kids; Spring Fest, an activity for kids located at the University Hills Elementary School; participation in Junior Achievement by teaching business basics to elementary school kids in Denver.

One of the chapter's focuses this year was to strengthen alumni communication.

Colorado Springs Mu Chi

Mu Chi Chapter at the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs completed its first full year in the fraternity. The chapter has grown stronger in Brotherhood with a membership of around 30 Brothers. Our motto when looking for new Brothers is quality not quantity. As a commuter campus, and the first organization of the fraternal type at UCCS, we've learned to deal with many challenges. These challenges increase our ability to grow and become a stronger chapter for the fraternity.

Our thanks goes out to the Brothers of Alpha Rho, Zeta Kappa, and Mu Rho Chapters for their continued support and Brotherhood. Our chapter thoroughly enjoyed being a part of the first Colorado joint initiation in Colorado Springs. We look forward to doing other activities with our neighboring Brothers.

Colorado State Mu Rho

Mu Rho Chapter began a scholarship fund in memory of Michelle Copelan, a very special member of Delta Sigma Pi. Funds were collected by holding a raffle with prizes donated by local businesses.

The members of Mu Rho Chapter presented Michelle's parents, Chuck and JoAnn Copeland, with the scholarship fund. The recipient of the scholarship must be paying their own way through college, be a business major, and graduate from a Fort Collins high school.

The chapter was proud to have Michelle as a member and a friend. Through the scholarship fund Michelle's spirit will always be with us.

Connecticut Theta Iota

Theta Iota Chapter's Professional Program included speakers from Price Waterhouse on the accounting profession, James Mahoney, an alumnus and senior partner of his own firm, spoke of his climb to the top and gave his ten personal suggestions to get there. Matthew Periman spoke on the reinsurance industry and what he looks for in his interviewing. Dr. Paul W. Mulvey, our Chapter Advisor, led a discussion on Risk Management. James Franchere gave a talk on Sexual harassment in the Work Place. Lucy H. Hendrick, author and lecturer, spoke about Time Management and Basketball Hall of Famer, "Dr. J", Julius Irving presented a talk entitled "Winning in the 90's" in a campus-wide event.

Tours took us to the Coca-Cola Bottling plant, The Boston Federal reserve bank and to the New York Stock Exchange.

Dayton Epsilon Tau

Nine Brothers gathered in Anaheim, California, with over 600 other Deltasigs to experience the "Magic of Brotherhood" at the 39th Grand Chapter Congress. Perhaps the biggest moment occurred when Epsilon Tau's advisor, Tom Davis, was selected as the East Central Regional Chapter Advisor of the Year. Our sincere thanks and congratulations to Mr. Davis who has proven his constant dedication and support to our chapter.

Strong community service and professional programs have continued to anchor the success of our chapter. Other highlights have included Homecoming weekend where old friendships were renewed, and an increased emphasis on building relationships with other regional chapters through joint events.

DePaul Alpha Omega

Alpha Omega Chapter started out early in the year with a charity bike ride to benefit the Friends of the Park. This was not your ordinary bicycle event; it started at 1:30 AM and ended at dawn. The noncompetitive ride, entitled L.A.T.E. Ride (Long After Twilight Ends), was comprised of nearly 5000 cyclists peddling 25 miles in Chicago. This was one community service event where the early bird (or late bird) catches the worm!

Also at the beginning of the school year, we installed a new "Deltasig Hotline Number." Our president had a separate phone line at his apartment hooked up to an answering machine. The message stated any upcoming events and/or notices for Brothers, alumni, and pledges of the chapter. This hotline was usually updated on a weekly basis or as our schedule permitted. The hotline was great for providing a common communication center.

Drake Alpha Iota

Alpha Iota has engaged in many professional, charitable, profitable, and fun activities this year. Tours of the Blood Bank of Central Iowa and the Mission Temple Academy presented the chapter with an inside look at the business world. The annual Career Day was beneficial for brothers in their job search.

A regional newsletter, proved to be a big success in sharing successful ideas.

The chapter provided service to the community through the donation of blood, cleaning up a family shelter and sorting food at the Food Bank of Iowa. A Valentine's Day raffle and the traditional sale of care packages during finals week helped finance activities.

Goals have been set to increase diversity within the chapter and also increase Delta Sigma Pi visibility on campus.

Duquesne Theta Rho

Theta Rho Chapter participated in the Toys-for-Tots campaign and the Brothers worked with several other business fraternities to provide Christmas gifts for the children of the Holy Family Institute. We participated in a Crop Walk and Brothers walked the streets of Pittsburgh to raise money for the hungry through pledges that was donated to area food banks. Other projects included Hunger Clean-Up Day and adopting a needy foreign child to support annually.

We listened to professionals speak on investing and time management. A tour of one of the Ladbrooke offtrack betting facilities and learning about telecommunication technology by speaker Dave Lotz from AT&T, rounded out the year.

Eastern Illinois Epsilon Omega

Epsilon Omega Chapter started the year off with a brand new outlook. We began with Brothers attending the 39th Grand Chapter Congress and the Officer Training School in Chicago. Our professional program this year had a bit more variety and was a lot more fun. Tours included McDonald's University and their corporate office, a local tour of Pepsi Company, and a tour of The Central Office. Speakers consisted of topics such as specialty advertising, dining etiquette, and international business ethics.

Recruiting has been very successful. We were especially pleased to have Brother Frank Weber as an honored guest at one of our recruiting events. He spoke on the benefits of the fraternity whether you are a pledge, collegiate member or alumnus.

East Tennessee State Delta Xi

To continue to build its ties with the community Delta Xi Chapter participated in Adopt-A-Highway

The Social Committee put in many long, hard hours to make the Spring Formal at the a Radisson Hotel in Asheville, North Carolina a reality.

Throughout the semester Delta Xi Chapter has invited many quality members of the professional community to speak to our Brothers and the College of Business. A recent one of these was Mr. Harvey Justice of the J.C. Penney Company. He left us with a very important piece of advice, work hard and be happy!

Evansville Iota Sigma

At the end of the spring semester, the chapter members and newly installed officers decided some major improvements were needed in the Iota Sigma Chapter. The new officers participated in a one-day strategic management seminar conducted by Chapter Advisor Larry Steenberg. He helped the officers examine the chapter's performance from the previous year in terms of goals and accomplishments. The officers discussed the chapter's strengths and weaknesses and then set very realistic and specific goals and objectives for the new year.

One major change was to remove the mandatory attendance policy. The officers decided the chapter would create events in which members would want to participate instead of being forced. Some of the themes the chapter focused on were professional activities, Brotherhood and having fun.

Ferris State Delta Rho

For the 25th year, Delta Rho Chapter sponsored its annual Career Day on the Ferris State campus. Brothers and students had the chance to network and distribute resumes to the 23 different companies in attendance. Recruiters were on hand to answer questions and interview potential employees.

Simonds Knife, Wolverine World Wide, Fitzsimmons Manufacturing, Herman Miller, and Four Winns were some of the various companies we toured this year as part of our professional program. In addition, we watched several films on different aspects of business.

Florida Beta Eta

This spring Beta Eta Chapter was proud to host the semi-annual regional initiation. We initiated 12 pledges and helped welcome the 44 new Brothers of the eight other Florida chapters who attended the weekend event.

For the second year we have published resume books compiled from the chapter members. The books were distributed to all of the recruiters at the university's Career Expo before it opened to the general student body. The Professional Committee was also kept busy by distributing career packets to our graduating seniors. Each contained helpful information about career opportunities for the departing Brothers.

Florida Atlantic Zeta Phi

From the words of a new Brother: Through the process of pledging, the pledge class makes very close ties to one another. This year, those ties will expand to surround the whole chapter. Our ties are woven not only with the threads of social interaction, but with threads of reaching common goals and striving for a common good. The silken strands of friendship are reinforced by the silver threads of confidence and professionalism.

Our fund raising efforts strengthen our abilities to work together in a commercial world. Professional events provide us with first-hand experience and knowledge of the business community. Finally, the ties are interwoven with the gold that comes from contributing to the community. These events made us aware of our social responsibilities and we realize that every effort counts and every result can be beneficial.

Florida Southern Delta Iota

Delta Iota Chapter has been making great improvements and implementing new programs this year. We have installed two new committees: Alumni/Faculty Relations and Brotherhood. The Alumni/Faculty Committee has worked hard to get faculty and alumni more involved and the Brotherhood Committee has devised motivational techniques and activities to boost Brother morale. We have also implemented a motivational point system.

The chapter kept busy during the year with professional events such as resume writing workshops, a career expo, and the job search process. We hosted both an area conference in the fall and joint initiation for seven other chapters in the South Atlantic Region.

Florida State Gamma Lambda

In the past our chapter has not placed much emphasis on scholarship so an award was created to remedy this situation. The Purple and Gold Excellence Award is awarded to the Brother that has increased their cumulative GPA the most. In addition to receiving this award, they also receive complimentary dues for the next semester.

This year the chapter has flourished in the area of professional events. One of our many events was an informative workshop on the important aspects of resume writing and interview preparation. In addition, we scheduled a sensational professional tour in Tampa. We had lunch with Theta Phi Chapter and then toured Raymond James Financial Company. The remainder of our visit was spent on a 2-day cruise.

George Mason Mu Tau

Mu Tau Chapter certainly appreciates the faculty at George Mason University! Several times during the year the chapter sponsored coffee and doughnuts for the business faculty in appreciation for all their hard work. Information about the chapter's current events, future plans, and past accomplishments were on display during these sessions. Each time the chapter sponsored this event, more faculty members attended.

In November the chapter also set aside a day as Delta Sigma Pi Faculty Appreciation Day. In addition to the coffee and doughnuts, 100 purple and gold pencils inscribed with, "Delta Sigma Pi, Faculty Appreciation Day," were distributed to the faculty.

Georgetown Mu

The year began successfully with our first professional event: "Opportunities at the Career Center." This was followed by a forum on interviewing skills with Coopers and Lybrand. One of our last speakers for the fall semester was Jeff Simons of Marvel Comics. He spoke to on the topics of "Marketing Towards Children" and "Marketing at Marvel." This event was co hosted by Delta Sigma Pi and the Marketing Society.

In addition to spending time with our alumni, we have been active in several community service projects such as the Washington D.C. Youth Walk, and making sandwiches for the homeless community.

Georgia Pi

On February 26, Pi Chapter celebrated our chapter birthday. The event began with the chapter's annual Rose Dance at the Marriott in Gwinnett County, Georgia. At the beginning of the night the chapter had a sit-down dinner followed by our birthday cake to celebrate the event. The last part of the evening involved dancing until dawn.

Several interesting topics comprised our professional calendar: career planning, parliamentary procedure, internships, law school, banking, and goals to success. We were also delighted to have our Regional Director, Mitchell B. Simmons, speak to us about his position as an insurance agent at Georgia Farm Bureau.

Georgia State Kappa

Kappa Chapter has worked very hard to publicize Delta Sigma Pi by distributing fliers and posters throughout the Georgia State campus. In addition to our recruiting activities, our community service projects included a food and clothes drive to provide aid to the homeless people of the Atlanta community, and working at the March of Dimes Walk-a-Thon.

The fall professional program started by hosting a recruiting seminar conducted by Steven Waldrop, a recent Georgia State graduate and a Delta Sigma Pi alumnus, and Cindy Momeyer from Arthur Anderson Tax and Technology Group.

The chapter also hosted the Southeastern Region Area Conference. There were approximately five chapters and twenty-five members in attendance.

Grand Valley State Lambda Xi

One of the most memorable events of the past year for Lambda Xi Chapter members was OTiS at DePaul University in Chicago.

Some of our community service events were participation in Junior Achievement, Adopt-A-Highway, Game-A-Thon, which raised money for the American Red Cross AIDS Education Program, Bowl-A-Thon, and bingo at Brookcrest Nursing Home.

For professional events we participated in a fashion show put on by the school of business, went on tours, had numerous speakers, and attended the West Michigan Alumni Chapter Founders' Day celebration which featured Glen Steil, the US congressional candidate, speaking on "Clinton Economics and its Impact on Business."

Hawaii Lambda Psi

Lambda Psi Chapter had a very busy, productive and fun year. Some of the speakers we hosted have included alumnus Ernest J. White, a successful lawyer and lobbyist from Washington, D.C.; Lambda Psi Chapter Advisor Dr. Harry Hennessey, spoke on how to create a good resume; Desiree Cruz, who owns a model and talent agency, demonstrated how to project a winning attitude and Greg Hall and Richard DeSa from the First Hawaiian Bank spoke to the members about today's banking and the process of moving up the banking ladder.

Hilo, Hawaiian Hotel opened its doors to Lambda Psi Chapter members and Bryan Chen, the Sales Manager, gave us a very interesting tour and speech about hotel and restaurant management.

Houston Eta Psi

Life in politics was the focal point of a discussion led by Houston City Comptroller George Greanias. Mr. Greanias, an Deltasig Honorary Member, shared insights into political life and offered advice to those considering seeking public office. The chapter also received recognition in the campus newspaper for this professional event.

Members and alumni from Lambda Xi Chapter at Grand Valley State University attend the Chicago Officer Training School held at DePaul University this past fall.

Eta Psi Chapter hosted a "Pie-in-the-Face" Contest last fall. Members, Alumni, and friends each donated money into six jars, each with a different member's face on it. Bills counted as positive points and coins counted as negative points. The jar with the most points received a pie in the face. The jars were displayed a month before the actual event.

Houston-Victoria Mu Omicron

Mu Omicron Chapter developed a unique partnership this semester with students at Patti Welder Intermediate School. The Brothers participated in the "Economics of Staying in School" Program in conjunction with Junior Achievement. This program is a six-week course designed to better prepare students to enter the job market and to become tomorrow's leaders.

The campus newspaper featured an article about the chapter's participation saying, "The University of Houston-Victoria students helped younger students in the program fill out personal budgets, use the newspaper to examine job ads, and try to match a career with their individual interests." Several of the participating chapter members also had personal work experience to share with the students.

Howard Iota Rho

To increase inter-chapter relations, Iota Rho Chapter hosted a professional event in which other area chapters attended. Brothers from Gamma Sigma Chapter, University of Maryland, and Mu Chapter, Georgetown University, joined us to listen to Grace Wiggins who spoke on government and finance.

In April we participated in an In-House Leadership Workshop. The senior officers of the chapter gave a presentation detailing responsibilities of all the officers. They were assisted by two alumni Brothers. Topics of discussion included communication, planning, and effective leadership.

Illinois Upsilon

Upsilon Chapter's activities continue to increase. Since we have such expansion, we added a position on the executive board of Internal Vice President to oversee and coordinate our many committees. This added position has greatly increased the efficiency of our chapter and has lightened the responsibilities of the president.

To finance the activities of our committees, we had extremely successful fund-raisers selling sweat-shirts, mugs and candy packs called "Exam Crunchers." The candy was sent to students with a note from their family during finals week.

We are proud to announce that our former president, Bob Ballsrud, was the recipient of the College of Commerce Outstanding President Award. Furthermore, Bob Ballsrud and Tory Ramaker were both named as one of the Top Ten Seniors for the College of Commerce.

Illinois State Iota Chi

For the past several years, Iota Chi Chapter has produced a datebook for all Illinois State Students. Called the "Redbird Reminder," this book is great for recording tests, meetings, as well as an entire week. It contains information such as student organizations, fraternities, sororities, maps of the area and a final exam schedule. This has been our most successful fund-raiser ever.

This semester the chapter has also been busy raising money and corresponding with our sponsored child through the Save the Children program. The money we raise will go towards health care and future education.

Indiana Alpha Pi

Alpha Pi Chapter had several brothers attend OTiS in Chicago where we learned a great deal and were able to share ideas with Brothers from other chapters.

The Chapter initiated 18 new members after a long semester where the pledges planned a professional speaker and clothing drive for the homeless.

Other events sponsored by the chapter last semester were a camping trip for Brothers, the annual formal Rose Dance in Lexington, Kentucky, and a walk-a-thon for the local Big Brothers/Big Sisters organization.

Due to these and other events and the great work of the fall 1993 executive board, Alpha Pi Chapter was also able to make a significant improvement in CEI points. We look forward to another great semester in 1994!

Indiana Northwest Theta Psi

In November our chapter visited Ivan Hoe Elementary School in Gary, Indiana to speak to first through third graders. Prior to our visit we asked students to write a paper the meaning/purpose of a fraternity. The purpose of our visit was to stress to the kids the importance of education and college. We also discussed some of their papers and let them know what a professional fraternity really means.

Our chapter also hosted a speaker, Mr. Bob Vanek, an internal auditor of Centier Bank. Mr. Vanek spoke about internal auditing in the banking business. He also discussed the differences between public and internal auditing.

Indiana-Purdue Iota Lambda

Although Iota Lambda Chapter at Ft. Wayne is one of the smallest chapters in the Huron Region, when it comes to attending events, chapter members have shown their overwhelming support by participating in all of the scheduled activities. However, recruiting events have shown little results, despite diligent planning and chapter participation. With the new school year approaching, the chapter is looking forward to some fun recruiting tactics, such as a picnic in the park, stuffing business books with bookmarks, and passing out pencils at the "Meet the Chapter" recruiting events. With these promising recruiting events, Iota Lambda Chapter hopes to start off on the right foot.

Indiana State Delta Tau

Delta Tau Chapter toured the local Denny's restaurant in April. Chapter members were guided throughout the kitchen and the manager's office. The manager discussed the business aspect of running a restaurant. A question and answer session followed with discussions on the trouble of security, delegating authority, and the amount of cash on hand in the restaurant. After the tour and discussion, the chapter sat down for a meal at Denny's.

In March, the chapter held a Faculty Tea at the School of Business. To encourage the faculty and staff to participate, an invitation was mailed out a few weeks before the tea. The Brothers prepared most of the food including ham salad, fruit salad, relish and cheese trays. The overall goal of the tea was for the chapter to interact with the faculty and staff. Also, it was our chance to show them our appreciation.

Iowa Epsilon

Once again the professional program remains a strong point for Epsilon Chapter. Special thanks to alumni Brothers John Solow and William Albrecht, Professors of Economics at the University; King Herr, President of the Iowa City chapter of SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives); and Nancy Noth, Assistant Dean of College of Business who took time from their busy schedules to "come home" to the Epsilon Chapter and speak to the chapter.

The chapter also heard from Clyde Hayes, Supervisor of Petroleum Products Supply Accounting at Amoco and Paul Postler of Seabury & Smith

Insurance Management.

Our fall professional trip took the members to Chicago to get an inside look at the Chicago Board of Trade and the Quaker Oats Corporation Headquarters.

Iowa State Mu Psi

Our calendar of activities for the spring semester included professional speakers Scott Opsal, Vice President of Investa Capital Management; and Dr. Joe Kupfer, Professor of Philosophy at Iowa State. Our professional tour took us to Principal of Financial Group in Des Moines.

One of our community service activities was our Adopt-A-Classroom. Every member of the chapter was assigned a day in which he or she cleaned up the classroom at the end of the day. This event really helped the university custodians.

Fund-raisers this semester consisted of balloon bouquets, donut, cupcake, and candy bar sales.

James Madison Iota Kappa

Iota Kappa Chapter has had another successful year. We completing seven different community service projects. One of these was a semi-annual wheelchair square dance with Camelott Nursing Home, which the residents always seem to enjoy. We ran concessions at a home basketball game and donated the money to C.A.R.E., sponsored a canned food drive for Mercy House along with making Easter baskets for all of the resident children, helped sponsor the Special Olympics and participated in Adopt-A-Highway.

There was a total of 15 professional activities this year which included Lisa Minderlein an alumnus with KPMG, and speakers from Crestar Bank, Marriott, and Menck & Co., Inc.

Johns Hopkins Chi

Chi Chapter reached out to the community with a helping hand last fall. The chapter collected money to donate turkeys for Thanksgiving and for flood relief in the Midwest, and also collected clothes for the needy.

For professional events, we hosted Dean Broida at the Downtown Center, and followed up with professional events concerning quality management, the workings of the Federal Reserve Bank, and starting an investment club. Tours were Boordy Vineyards and the hospital ship USNS Comfort, General Motors plant and a tour of Wall Street and the Federal Reserve Bank in New York.

Community Service found the chapter collecting pennies for a Penny Drive for a local children's home and participating in a Habitat for Humanity community service project.

Kansas Iota

Members increased campus involvement in the fall through various activities. First, fundraising efforts were continued through the football concession work and University Daily Kansan newspaper stuffings.

Professional speakers this semester focused on the transition from student to successful business person. The speakers were from WOS Fund Accounting, Hallmark, KU Accounting, Kansas Federal Reserve Bank, Employers Reinsurance Corp, and CGSAA. Tours of Hallmark Cards and the Kansas Federal Reserve Bank in Kansas City were other highlights of the semester's activities. Topics of discussion included personal experiences in the job market, as well as advice on how to interact with employees of other firms.

Kent State Beta Pi

The fall semester started with a new look for Beta Pi Chapter with recruitment T-shirts! The shirts has a "Just Join" logo on the front and the theme "The World Can Be Yours with Delta Sigma Pi" revolving around a glove on the back. Various other activities took place including in-class recruiting, speakers in orientation classes, flyers, bookmarks and bus signs displayed as well as several other advertising activities.

Professional events included professional speakers and tours of Cleveland Rainforest and Anheuser-Busch factory.

Community service is one of the most important activities we do as a chapter. This year we participated in Adopt-A-Highway, Toe-to-Tow Marathon, canned food drive, visit to pet shelter, Bowl-a-thon for MDA and the "Into the Streets" program.

Lamar Delta Eta

At Lamar University's 1994 Toast to Leadership Banquet, our chapter was awarded "Most Improved Student Organization" and our advisor, Mr. H.A. Barlow, received the "Special Recognition Award" for his contributions to the chapter. In addition, one of our Brothers, Chris Henderson, was awarded the Gulf Western Regional Collegian of the Year.

In April the chapter recognized its founding (1956). In the fraternity's display case we recognized the 38 founding members of the chapter along with the fraternity's four founding fathers. Members and pledges celebrated with a barbecue cookout that night.

LaRoche Mu Xi

Mu Xi Chapter participated in the Multiple Sclerosis Walk-A-Thon to benefit the Multiple Sclerosis Society that took place beginning at Point Park, through the Pittsburgh Zoo, and ending at Point Park. The Brothers participated by raising money as well as entering the fourteen mile walk.

Also in April the chapter sponsored a clothing drive to benefit St. Benedict's. We participated by either bringing clothes, collecting them or setting up signs and boxes.

We would like to congratulate Mu Xi Brother Pamela Wydrenski who was honored by the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Institute of Management Accountants as an "Outstanding accounting student."

Lewis Zeta Xi

Many exciting events happened this year to increase our ties of Brotherhood. We had some great tours including Dean Witter, Chicago Tribune, A.C. Neilson Marketing Research and Motorola. Several community service projects such as a diabetes collection, free car wash, and a hunger drive also kept us involved throughout the year.

An activity in which we participate yearly is the Chicago Alumni Basketball Tournament. This event usually generates a great deal of excitement and this year was no different. Afterwards we celebrated at the Hyatt Hotel.

Livingston Lambda Rho

Lambda Rho Chapter kept busy during the fall quarter with several professional activities. The speakers discussed networking, the foreign market of computers, and retail empires. We also took a professional tour of Data Processing. Fund raising events included selling Krispy Kreme Doughnuts.

Our last quarter of activities included professional activities on such subjects as resume skills, computerizing resumes success in the year 2000, and film series about Wal*Mart. Community service activities consisted of Adopt-A-Mile Clean Up, and a canned food drive for the needy.

Longwood Kappa Nu

Kappa Nu has had an outstanding year. The chapter is proud to continue its excellent professional program and to be the home chapter of the 1994 South Central Region National Collegian of the Year.

The chapter's professional program celebrated its eleven year of hosting Career Night Business and invited many speakers throughout the year. Two excellent speakers that shared their aspirations were John J. Todd, Vice President of Acquisitions and Business Development of Pizza Hut, Inc. and David V. Clark, President, CEO and Chairman of the Board for Eskimo Pie.

The exciting year continued as Paige Turnes, 1993 Kappa Nu President, was chosen as both the South Central Region and the 1994 National Collegian of the Year. The chapter is proud of Paige and her accomplishments.

Louisiana State Beta Zeta

The professional program of Beta Zeta Chapter got underway with topics such as Louisiana politics, health care, law, starting a business, what employees look for, and business basics. One of the most interesting subjects was the Executive Vice President for the Louisiana Lottery Corporation speaking on the history of the lottery.

The community service calendar included helping the Baton Rouge Green, a local community organization, plant 26 trees at a local elementary school and sponsoring a mini olympics for the students at the Louisiana School for the Deaf.

Louisiana Tech Beta Psi

During the Spring quarter Beta Psi Chapter awarded two scholarships for undergraduates which will be administered in the Fall quarter. The David L. Gloer Scholarships is given to a business student who is not a member of Delta Sigma Pi. The Joey Robinson Scholarship is strictly for Delta Sigma Pi members, and was awarded to Belinda Bodie.

Members participated in a canned food drive, worked to keep the streets of Ruston clean, and showed their appreciation to the Business Faculty.

Fund-raising projects included our Pizza Hut Passport Card sales, "Corporate Carwash," and a raffle which had cash prizes in excess of $100.

The professional activities of the chapter included many speakers, a tour of the State Farm Regional Office and a tour of the Frosty Factory of America.

Loyola-Chicago Gamma Pi

Gamma Pi Chapter had an exciting year with lots of dedication, progress, and hard work on the part of all the Brothers. Our professional activities program brought in speakers from Smith Barney Shearson, Ernst and Young, and our tour of the Chicago Board of Trade was especially interesting.

In addition, we maintained our commitment to community service by sponsoring a raffle at the Excalibur Night Club, from which profits benefited local charities. We also had fun helping out at St. Thomas of Canterbury's soup kitchen where we prepared and served dinner to the homeless.

Our most exciting accomplishment by far this year was being recognized and awarded at Loyola's Student Life Award Program as "The Best Organization at the Water Tower Campus."

Loyola-Marymount Delta Sigma

Special Games was designed to have a special day with the physically and mentally challenged, and Delta Sigma Chapter was proud to be a part of it. Throughout the spring semester we prepared for the "Big Day." We formed a team of Delta Sigma Pi collegiates, alumnus, and others who chose to be involved. It was a day that included friendly competition, fun, and one that was deeply felt by everybody. Special games allowed us to experience the rewards of helping others as well as the bonds of friendship that can last a lifetime.

Loyola-New Orleans Delta Nu

Delta Nu Chapter hosted an executive luncheon in April as part of the professional program. Mr. William Gahagan, a partner with the accounting firm Arthur Anderson spoke on the changes in the accounting field and the recruiting process.

Celebration and congratulations are in order for two separate occasions. We are proud to recognize Delta Nu Brother Patrick Donovan as the Gulf South Regional Collegian of the Year. We would like to extend a warm welcome to the newest chapter in our region, and fellow city neighbor, Nu Omicron Chapter at Our Lady of Holy Cross College in New Orleans. We are proud to call all of you Brother.

Mankato State Epsilon Iota

Epsilon Iota Chapter started the year with a tour of Staff-Plus in Minnesota and our guide Sharon Bredeson was one of the most exciting speakers to speak to the chapter.

Then Tom Porter stopped by to give us a little advise on our own financial planning after we graduate. Next Brian Roesler from Wolf Etter and Company (CPA) spoke to us on what's up in the accounting industry these days. We closed the fall semester with Randy Long from the Career Development Center speaking on how to write a resume and a cover letter and we took a tour of Carlson Craft.

Community service was a priority this year. We did Adopt-A-Highway, and collected 8 1/2 pounds of pop can tabs for the Ronald McDonald House. Other activities include the Admissions Office Phone-A-Thon, and giving blood and the homecoming cleanup with the University.

Marquette Delta

Service activities for Delta Chapter included winterizing homes in the fall, participation in Team Tug, a tug-of-war event that raised money for local charities, and participation in Hunger Cleanup, that both raises money for nearby homeless shelters and cleans up city streets.

Our professional activities included exceptional speakers from such companies as Harely-Davidson, Jockey International, and Children's Hospital, as well as a tour of the Chicago Tribune.

Socially, Founders' Day, held at the elegant Wisconsin Club in downtown Milwaukee, proved to be both an enjoyable and classy affair. Among the year's social activities was a ski trip, as well as a theme party and pub crawl with neighboring chapters. We ended the year with a senior brunch and presenting past president Matthew Van Ermen with Brother of the Year and a Senior of the Year Award.

Maryland Gamma Sigma

The chapter's Adopt-A-Road community service project has gotten off to a great start. One fine Saturday morning the chapter turned out en masse to clean up our section of University Boulevard. Our section was a mess when we began. Bottles, cans, trash, assorted auto parts and other items littered the sidewalks and road side.

We broke into four groups to scour the entire area, our hands full of trash bags. When we finished you could have eaten off the road, it was that clean! Everyone had a great time and especially enjoyed the lunch together afterwards. This will hopefully be a semi-annual event; it benefits the community and gives us a chance to have fun in the process.

Mercer Alpha Tau

On January 20, 1994, before our business meeting, an electronic bulletin board was presented to the Stetson School of Business and Economics. Dr. Carl Joiner, Dean and Deltasig alumnus, accepted the board. The electronic message board is a joint venture of the business school and Alpha Tau Chapter. The board will scroll messages about upcoming campus events to all the business students.

Also in January, Mr. Horace Holmes, owner of Horace Holmes Photography Studio, spoke to the Brothers and guests on the topic of small business. Mr. Holmes told of his beginnings in the world of photography and of his battles with racism in the business world. He also spoke of his achievements which included photo sessions with two Vice Presidents of the United States.

Miami-Ohio Alpha Upsilon

Although there were many success stories of the year, perhaps Alpha Upsilon Chapter's greatest improvements occurred in the areas of our professional programs and our relationship with Miami University. Besides drawing several outstanding speakers and participating in various tours of area businesses, the chapter co-hosted the university-wide Internship Forum, which brought in over one hundred businesses for the benefit of Miami's Juniors.

The chapter also made great strides in strengthening its relationship with the School of Business. Thanks to the diligence and innovative ideas of our Brothers, the chapter increased its participation in the Business Student Advisory Council as well as assisting as hosts for this year's annual Business Advisory Conference.

Miami-Florida Beta Omega

Last semester Beta Omega Chapter helped sponsor several guest speaker presentations such as David Fuente, President and CEO of Office Depot; Harry Schulman, Executive Vice President of Finance from Windmere Corporation; and Hilton Dean, managing partner with Ernest & Young.

The chapter also sponsored a faculty luncheon in April. The members were given the opportunity to talk and socialize with the faculty while eating Mexican food. The purpose of the luncheon was to express gratitude to the faculty for their support as well as to exchange ideas and gather information about different topics.

Michigan-Ann Arbor Xi

Xi Chapter hosted presentations by Andersen Consulting, Solomon Brothers, Michelin Tires, USF&G, WKBD Channel 50 and a presentation on Business Cultures and Ethics. The BBA Career Forum, which Xi Chapter sponsored as a part of BBA Appreciation Week was also a success.

The alumni tailgate party was a lot of fun and gave present chapter members a chance to talk about past traditions with Xi Chapter alumni.

Brothers started the year's community service activities with a B-school wide clothing drive, raking leaves for home bound elderly and volunteered at a recycling center in Ypsilanti.

To raise some money we passed our 30,000 Unofficial Student Guides and counted votes from the MSA elections.

Minnesota Alpha Epsilon

Alpha Epsilon Chapter, Curtis L. Carlson School of Management, along with the Twin Cities Alumni Chapter made a weekend venture down to Chicago for what has become an annual event. This year's excursion was different from those of previous years because of the opportunity we had to interact with Brothers from Alpha Omega Chapter at DePaul University and the Gamma Pi Chapter at Loyola Brothers from Eta Iota Chapter at Nicholls State University attend a recent recruiting party.

University-Chicago.

Mingling at the Harp & Shamrock Club, a Chicago establishment owned by an alumnus of Delta Sigma Pi, we has a chance to meet one another as well as to discuss various elements of our chapters. Although it was intriguing to be made aware of the differences and similarities among our respective chapters, the realization that impacted us the most was the affective and behavioral persuasiveness of Brotherhood. With the welcome we received from those we met, it was evident how a barrier such as geography can easily be dissolved by the commonalty of being Deltasigs.

Mississippi State Gamma Delta

Gamma Delta Chapter planned a number of professional events for fall semester, most co-sponsored with the Society for the Advancement of Management. They also planned an on-going community service project with an Adopt-A-Family Program. Six pledge were initiated in the fall.

Spring semester was another story. Due to declining participation, unsuccessful recruiting, and increasing financial debt many of the 29 members lost interest and motivation and stopped attending events. As 26 Brothers were planning to graduate in May, the chapter decided to be inactive (unofficially) for the remainder of spring semester.

Of the three remaining Brothers who are returning in the fall '94, one has committed to work with staff and national officers to reorganize the chapter. The Dean of the College of Business has offered generous support toward this endeavor. Watch out for Gamma Delta Chapter as Most Improved Chapter next year.

Missouri-Columbia Alpha Beta

Alpha Beta Chapter kept busy with a well rounded calendar of activities. Missouri State Representative Carl Vogel spoke to us about ethics and politics. Community service efforts brought members together to help paint the Rainbow House, a home for abused children. Can tabs were also collected for the Ronald McDonald House.

To increase relations with the faculty, we hosted a faculty/student luncheon in the business school lounge.

Socially, Alpha Beta Chapter celebrated at the annual Halloween Party, our initiation party, the "Bo-Holyfield" fight party, and also joined together for a well deserved happy hour.

Missouri-St. Louis Eta Nu

One of the community service events the chapter participated in this semester was the Ronald McDonald House. The Brothers cooked and served brunch for families staying at the house while their relatives were in the hospital.

To improve communication within the chapter and with the campus, the chapter established a Deltasig Event Hotline. It is a voice mail box in which upcoming events and the minutes of the meeting are recorded. The message is updated once a week. Messages can also be left by the caller which was extremely useful for the prospectives during recruiting.

Nebraska-Lincoln Alpha Delta

The spring semester 1994 was very rewarding for Alpha Delta Chapter. With the guidance of our finance chairperson and outstanding collegiate member Audra Semin, we had an outstanding success with fund-raising. The projects consisted of doing Raising Dough Food Sales, Bob-Devaney clean-ups, and marketing surveys for the college of business administration (CBA). The chapter was also recognized as having 85% of members with G.P.A.'s higher than the average in the college of business.

Nevada-Reno Delta Pi

Increasing faculty relations has been one of the many goals this year for the Brothers of Delta Pi. To promote higher visibility of our faculty Brothers, we have started highlighting them in our fraternity display case which is located in the Business School. Every month a faculty member is interviewed and the contents of the interview are displayed along with pictures. We also held a Faculty Appreciation Week in the spring. Every morning that week, the faculty were given little presents from our chapter to show that we care. It was very successful and helped strengthen the ties between the faculty and chapter Brothers.

New Mexico Gamma Iota

Gamma Iota Chapter had some interesting speakers this year including a FBI agent speaking on business skills in the FBI, and a manager from the New Mexico Department of Tourism informing us about tourism and its economic impact on the state. We kept the chapter financially strong with our year-long Coke and snack table based out of our chapter office.

Scholarship was one area in which the chapter wanted to improve so study hours were enacted this year. Our goals in doing this were to promote scholarship within the chapter and promote our fraternity to others as a professional one which is dedicated to achieving high scholastic standards.

New Mexico State Epsilon Upsilon

This semester was off to a rip roaring start. Everything has been running very smoothly. Everyone is very enthusiastic about accomplishing the goals that we set for our chapter this year. Our new members have jumped right in and have contributed a lot to our chapter. New ideas and hard work have been coming from everyone. If this semester continues in the same way it has started, we should be able to reach our objectives.

Last year we were recognized as "The Most Improved Chapter" and this year it is our goal to reach honor roll status.

New Orleans Epsilon Nu

In October, Dr. Patrick Gibbs, Vice Chancellor for Business Affairs at the University of New Orleans, spoke to Epsilon Nu Chapter members on the topic of "The budget process for tax exempt corporations using Louisiana Higher Education institutions as an example." In Louisiana there are three boards which must approve all budgeting which leads to layers of mis-communication. Dr. Gibbs suggested one solution: one board which oversees all higher education. He also showed how financial statements for tax exempt corporations differ from for-profit corporations and the reasoning for that system.

In community service we again participated in the "Christmas in October" program. The Brothers continued work on the same home that the chapter helped with last year. Members painted the second coat on the exterior of the house, scraped and repainted the front porch and painted the shed.

New York Alpha

The Brothers of Alpha Chapter kept very busy this year with a plethora of professional activities that interested a wide range of tastes. We had speakers from companies such as Citicorp, Chase Manhattan, Paine Webber, Coopers & Lybrand, Chemical Bank, Price Waterhouse, and Lehman Brothers. A variety of topics included finance careers, internships, brokering careers, money management, information systems technology, entrepreneurship, and resumes. We also toured the World Trade Center and The New York Stock Exchange.

We offered assistance to the community by sponsoring a blood drive and participating in the Special Olympics, a MS walkathon, and a soup kitchen. As a part of the Greek system here at New York University, we participated in sweeping and planting flowers at Washington Square Park.

Nicholls State Eta Iota

In January, Eta Iota Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi participated in a Club Fair sponsored by the College of Business Administration at Nicholls State University. This event was held to recruit new members for the various business clubs and organizations. All active Brothers participated in this event. They provided hors d'oeuvres and soft drinks, and of course, information about the fraternity to interested students. The event was well attended by alumni, collegiate and prospective members. The day was a success!

In April, we initiated eight new Brothers into our chapter. A warm welcome to our new Deltasigs!

NC-Chapel Hill Alpha Lambda

Some of the professional events of Alpha Lambda Chapter were a panel of recent Deltasig graduates talking about their experiences before and after being a collegiate member, speakers representing Peat Marwick and Andersen Consulting, a film and a tour of Harris Brewery.

Community service projects included a successful Soup Kitchen can drive, a charity yard sale with Chapel Hill Senior Center and a raffle for three cash prizes with a portion being donated to the Ronald Members from Kappa Pi Chapter and the North Florida Alumni Chapter host a reception for James Jacobs (son of founder Harold V. Jacobs) and his wife Julia.

McDonald House.

The Big Brother program this spring had a total of five events: bowling, ice skating, comedy night, Ice Caps Hockey game, and a progressive dinner.

NC-Greensboro Iota Omega

Iota Omega Chapter set certain goals at the beginning of the year and we worked very hard to accomplish them.

Recruiting went well and we initiated 11 new Brothers in the spring and we have now come up with some new and good ideas for recruiting next year.

Professional activities brought in some great speakers. Reginald Robusa from Jefferson Pilot spoke on diversity. Professor Herschel discussed how to work in groups effectively and Marc Bush enlightened us on the duties of a chamber of commerce. The most interesting and perhaps the most challenging was our last professional meeting with Congressman Howard Coble.

NE Missouri State Iota Nu

Professional activities for Iota Nu Chapter included tours of Bank of Kirksville and KTVO. We also had several guest speakers, including representatives from the IRS and a professional dress seminar. In addition, community service activities were also prevalent throughout the year, including Adopt-A-Highway, bingo at Twin Pines, visits to the Humane Shelter and a run for Cystic Fibrosis.

Iota Nu Chapter celebrated 15 years of Brotherhood this year with alumni and guests.

Chapter members also coordinated the third annual Etiquette Seminar with the University's Executive-In-Residence program. The evening was a great success with students and faculty learning about dinner etiquette from around the world as presented by Mr. Raymond Bentele.

Northern Arizona Zeta Omega

In the fall Zeta Omega Chapter sponsored a formal dinner banquet in honor of the professors in the College of Business Administration. At the banquet, members of the chapter were able to show their sincere appreciation to the professors who displayed outstanding performance and dedication.

Members of the chapter conducted a survey, reflecting student opinion, regarding the most outstanding professors.

The survey questions were designed to honor professors in each of six categories.

Northern Illinois Eta Mu

The Brothers of Eta Mu Chapter submitted a request to the Mass Transit Board at Northern Illinois University for the opportunity to run the Huskie Bus Line advertising. The Huskie Bus Line advertising generates revenue for the Student Association and the recipient of the bid by selling advertising space on our buses to local organizations and businesses through marketing strategies. The bid is inclusive of a written plan as well as a 45 minute professional question and answer session. Our four member presentation team, with the assistance and encouragement of many other members, was successful in winning the bid. This is the second year in a row that Delta Sigma Pi has been awarded the advertising contract.

North Florida Kappa Pi

Kappa Pi Chapter and the North Florida Alumni Chapter had the honor of hosting a reception for James and Julia Jacobs in April. Brother Jacobs, son of founder Harold Valentine Jacobs, shared his father's thoughts about the fraternity. His presentation was an inspiration to all of our members.

North Texas Delta Epsilon

Delta Epsilon Chapter has established several goals for the upcoming school year. As a chapter we hope to establish the organization as the most prominent business fraternity of the campus at The University of North Texas. We hope to recruit more prospective members by contacting business students at the second semester freshman level. We will also spearhead a drive to have the College of Business Administration renamed after the founder of the school Dr. OJ Curry.

Each officer within the chapter has established goals for the upcoming year as well. They all plan on continuing the good work of the previous administration as well as improving better communication between the officers and the rest of the chapter. We also want to get all Brothers more involved in all aspects of running the chapter effectively and efficiently.

Ohio Alpha Omicron

Winter quarter started out a bit differently this year. School was closed for a week due to a deep freeze and 20 inches of snow! While attempting to stay warm, we made plans for the rest of the school year. We began the year with recruiting 15 new pledges and planning our Baltimore/Washington Spring Trip.

For community service we went to Echoing Meadows to play bingo, and plans were made to assist Habitat for Humanity. Our quarterly fundraiser, Goody Bags, now in its 17th year, was quite successful. Eight area businesses participated. Professionally, we sponsored speakers on such topics as banking and the law, health care reform, finance, company expansion, and opportunities in the Peace Corps.

Ohio State Nu

Nu Chapter decided to recruit all year long, even during the quarters that we were not forming a pledge class. Our slide presentation for meet-the-chapter was so old we decided to do a new fast-paced video with narration and music also.

The chapter members took the annual trip in December to Chicago, Illinois. They visited the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, The Fed and even attended the Jenny Jones Show and ate in every over-priced restaurant they could find. A few members were lucky enough to get tickets for Phantom of the Opera.

This year the Awards Committee instituted the "Brother of the Month" award. The award is presented to the Brother who has shown outstanding dedication and service to the fraternity.

Oklahoma Beta Epsilon

This semester several chapter awards were reinstated or created. One award reinstated was the Member of the Month. Each month, outstanding members are nominated by secret ballot and the top three nominations are voted on. Another award continued is the Superior Professional Attitude of a Member award (SPAM). It is passed on by the previous weeks recipient(s) to one or more deserving members.

Something new Beta Epsilon Chapter sponsored this year was a Business College Professor of the Year Award. This award gave us great publicity with the student and better relations with the faculty.

Oklahoma State Gamma Epsilon

Gamma Epsilon Chapter's professional program was highlighted by a fashion show on dressing for success, a presentation from the placement office with tips of getting ahead, a local lawyer who spoke on corporate law, and a very insightful video presentation on technology of the future.

We took time to help in the community by donating clothes and other items to our local homeless shelter, as well as our visits to the nursing homes for various holidays. Despite all the hard work our chapter made time to reward themselves with some extra fun. A few of our social activities included, a Winter tri-formal, Spring White Rose semi-formal, the Alumni/Member softball tournament in Dallas, and our end of the year "get together" at Dr. Kletke's.

Pacific Lambda Mu

Our goals for the year included maintaining a good balance of professional, community service and fund-raising activities, maintaining scholastic standards, increasing membership and chapter revenues, and strengthening our Brotherhood.

Some of the professional activities included an alcohol awareness seminar, time management and stress management workshops, a tour of the Federal Reserve Bank and a winery in Napa Valley. Community service events focused on a food drive to help the homeless, a stamp collection drive to aid the blind, and a visit to an orphanage for a Halloween party.

An event that increased our Brotherhood as well as inter-chapter relations was an etiquette dinner with Epsilon Theta Chapter at Chico State.

Pennsylvania Beta Nu

Beta Nu Chapter sponsored a very special projects last fall, a resume service for homeless individuals. This services was conducted during our weekly volunteer program at a local soup kitchen. As most individuals did not have permanent addresses, the University City Hospitality Coalition offered to put their address and phone number on resumes if employers need to get in touch with these people.

The Brothers collected the information and typed out a resume at the university. The chapter made copies and then returned them to the men and women at the following week's meal. The resumes gave these people an edge over other job applicants and gave them something to be proud of when walking into an office.

Pennsylvania State Alpha Gamma

In conjunction with the Smeal College of Business Roundtable, Alpha Gamma Chapter has started a Professional Speaker Series. We co-sponsored five professional speakers this semester on subjects concerning "Business Aspects of Hotel Management, The Role of Managed Care in Health Care Reform, Managing a Family and a Career, Financing the Gulf War, and A Dynamic Process of Change From Beer to Technology."

The chapter also sponsored two other interesting professional events this semester. An alumnus spoke to us on the legal ramifications of hazing. He discussed how to protect the fraternity from lawsuits and how the fraternity can be held liable. Three other alumni Brothers from the chapter came back to discuss decisions that faced them after graduation. Subjects ranged from starting your own business to going back to school after spending time in the professional world.

Penn State-Behrend Mu Pi

The Mu Pi Chapter attended a tour of Troyer Farms Potato Chip Factory in September. The tour began with a video giving a background of the company and their different products. The guide then led us a tour of the plant where we were able to witness first hand how the different potato chips and other products were produced. After the tour, the company's cost accountant spoke to us on the Troyer Farms accounting process. We were then shown the company's offices and computer system.

In April the chapter celebrated its third anniversary with a Rose Dance at the Erie Yacht Club.

Pittsburgh Lambda

In February, the chapter hosted an Alumni Night as part of our professional program. This catered event provided the opportunity for Brothers to mix with our Alumni and obtain tips on various subjects such as networking, interviewing, and careers. It was a wonderful way for our pledges to meet Brothers from their family trees and to see how the fraternity benefits the members after graduation. About ten alumni Brothers attended this event.

Another interesting project in which Lambda Chapter participated is our semi-annual resume book. This book is the accumulation of resumes bound together, presented to our professional speakers, and mailed out to the various firms in the Pittsburgh area. This gives Brothers a better chance for internships and career opportunities.

Philadelphia Textiles Eta Xi

Eta Xi Chapter, in conjunction with the Student Government Association, sponsored an academic roundtable in April. US Congressman Lucien Blackwell attended and spoke on issues that were currently in the news. Also in April the chapter helped out at the Special Olympics held at Penn Charter School. The Brothers acted as buddies for the athletes and assisted in the running of various events.

Last semester the Brothers joined together to attend a "fun night" at the Ronald McDonald House in West Philadelphia. The Brothers dressed in a western theme and we played with children that were waiting to undergo surgery in the area hospitals. The Brothers also had the chance to play a pick-up game of basketball with the parents. The purpose of the event was to give care and support to the parents and children during a stressful time.

Purdue Kappa Omega

Kappa Omega Chapter celebrated its tenth year this year. Our chapter has continued to grow.

Community services included assisting a local church by painting hallways and rooms and organizing and participating in a Bowl-a-Thon. Proceeds went to help a boys home with whom the chapter has been working and to benefit a local girl with leukemia. Professional speakers discussed topics such as finance, accounting, and human resources management. Other professional activities were a resume workshop and an etiquette dinner. Fund-raisers included sweater sales, car washes, and finals package sales.

Quincy Lambda Omega

As part of our service to the community, Lambda Omega

Chapter brought in over 700 pounds of food in our annual food drive, donated time to help the Quincy Herald's Christmas campaign, and walked animals for the Quincy Human Society. For fund-raising, the chapter decorated and sold miniature Christmas trees which proved to be quite a lucrative project, and we once again hosted the university's annual Christmas Dance.

We rounded out our activities with speakers on such topics as hospital acquisitions, small business management, cablevision future, economic growth, and interviews and resumes..

Rider Beta Xi

The chapter put a lot of time and effort into three types of panel discussions this year that broadened our scope of the professional business world. Our first panel in November looked at the opportunities in international business. The panel was comprised of executives from five different businesses in the area.

Another panel in November focused on entrepreneurs. The seven member panel, all belonging to the M.I.T. Club of Princeton, set up a technical small business example for the audience and discussed the advantages and disadvantages of being an entrepreneur. In April the Beta Xi Chapter sponsored a panel of senior executives active in global business. The panel consisted of representatives from AT&T Global Products, Mistry Enterprise, Inc., Johnson and Johnson International, and Bristol Myers/Squibb.

Saginaw Valley State Mu Phi

The Brothers of Mu Phi Chapter adopted two families from Saginaw through the "Wishbook" program of Saginaw County Department of Social Services. This publication is a list of needy families including a personal "wish" from the family as well as the number of family members.

We donated clothes for the children and food for the families. Both families were contacted in person by the chapter to ensure each family would be able to enjoy the Christmas season to the best of our ability. Each family received a full Christmas dinner in addition to baskets filled with enough food for two meals. One of the families also received clothes for their two children, while the other family received some board games for their children.

St. Ambrose Theta Omicron

Theta Omicron Chapter participated in the annual Junior Achievement Bowl-A-thon, assisted in a project put on by the Humility of Mary Shelter of fixing up a house for unwed mothers and their kids, and provided services for the St. Ambrose University Multi-cultural Week by helping with the multi-cultural meal and putting together a panel discussion on Bosnia.

The chapter's professional program started off with a film on leadership. From there the chapter heard speeches on the development of social skills, Junior Achievements role in the community, raising the bar of expectations, personal case studies in management, and opening a new business. A tour of Case-IH Company was also included in the professional program.

St. Cloud State Theta Tau

Theta Tau Chapter traveled to Minneapolis to listen to Anthony Robbins, a motivational speaker, toured the Minnesota Brewing Company and also met a few of the talented DJ's from the KDWB radio station in the twin cities.

The members took an extended tour to Chicago visiting Abbott Laboratories and the Stock Exchange.

Our speakers have included Dean James Kelly from the St. Cloud College of Business and Mindy Bray from Angus Palm Industries.

The chapter members continue to improve the environment by cleaning the highway, holding our annual Trick-or-Treat for Catitas food drive, prepared a meal for a family in the St. Cloud area for Thanksgiving, and became involved with Project CARE, which is an effort to keep elderly residents independent and living in their homes. Other activities included volunteer work at the Donovan House of St. Cloud, bingo night at St. Ben's Center and Big Brothers/Big Sisters game night.

Brothers and pledges of Mu Pi Chapter gather to clean up the highway in the Adopt-A-Highway program.

St. Mary's Lambda Upsilon

In October Lambda Upsilon Brothers participated in the American Diabetes Association Walktoberfest. This event was a nine mile walk or run by participants from all over San Antonio and the surrounding area. Our purpose that day was to assist the ADA director in participant registration, passing out different items, and the serving of both breakfast and lunch. We hope to continue participating in this event on an annual basis.

Another chapter sponsored community service project consisted of a campus-wide canned food drive for the homeless shelters in the San Antonio area. The majority of the cans went to the shelters and the remains went to local churches. The chapter placed boxes all over campus to collect the food.

San Diego Lambda Pi

In the middle of the spring semester, Rebecca Jaurigue, a career counselor at the University of San Diego, spoke to our chapter and other USD students about networking. Topics such as turning an introduction into a contact, personal interviewing techniques, and approaching potential employers were discussed. Group activities and personal interaction exercises were conducted throughout the majority of the informational session. She also stressed the importance of resumes, professional appearance, and professional conduct as factors in obtaining jobs.

San Diego State Iota Pi

Winning the Outstanding Chapter and the Most Outstanding Community Service award last year put all the members in high spirits for the new year. We kicked off the year by packaging onions for various churches and organizations at the St. Vincent/DePaul Center. This event also helped us recruit the fall pledge class. The next event proved to be a big splash as Brothers were united with the Special Olympic swim team. In the third event for the semester, Brothers worked with the campus children's center in setting up a Halloween Carnival.

San Francisco Gamma Omicron

One of our more unusual professional events topic this semester was the Department of the Treasury, IRS, Criminal Investigation Division. Special Agent Shannon Hodges spoke about her exciting experiences in the field of criminal investigation. She also narrated several incidents that she encountered as a special agent that related to the business world, specifically the accounting field.

Our executive committee had some adjusting to do this semester. Our president had to unexpectedly resign, leaving a major position unfilled. Thanks to the dedication and support of our Brothers, we were able to quickly fill the position and move on without mishap. With several brand new Brothers in key offices, we've had to work together as a team to carry out our goals for the year. The Brothers have made many new and exciting changes that will hopefully benefit the chapter for many years.

San Francisco State Delta Omicron

Delta Omicron Chapter was excited to host Herb Briggins from the San Jose Sharks as a professional speaker last fall. He spoke about the operation of the Sharks including their logo, name, sales and customer service. We also sponsored Anita Roddick, CEO and founder of "The Body Shop" who discussed business issues and social responsibility.

To increase inter-chapter relations we decided to hold a joint initiation with Gamma Omicron Chapter who shares the city of San Francisco with our chapter.

Excitement was in the air as we recognized our 35th year since our founding in 1959, and to celebrate we held a banquet at the Airport Hilton in South San Francisco. Happy Birthday Delta Omicron!

San Jose State Theta Chi

The Brothers of Theta Chi Chapter were very excited to sponsor a new professional activity this year - Job Opportunities 2000.

This event, opened to the entire school, featured a panel of ten Silicon Valley experts giving students advice on what employers are looking for in their employees. These experts included representatives from the San Jose Sharks, Apple computer, Inc., IBM Corporation, the San Jose Hilton Towers, and the San Jose Mercury News.

The panel gave advice about several different aspects such as internships, special skills, GPAs and advanced degrees. Almost all the panelists suggested that work experience should be obtained before getting an advanced degree.

Savannah State Kappa Chi

Kappa Chi Chapter recently sponsored a business week for the school of business. Four different activities, consisting of "How to Get a Job," "Dress for Success," "Business Etiquette," and "Small Business Day," were conducted during the week by local businesses. The week ended with four companies hosting a Career Fair.

In May the chapter performed a community service activity at a local food shelter. We bagged groceries for low income senior citizens and loaded them into a truck for shipping. The groceries were delivered to senior citizens in a low income bracket, and/or to those who were unable to go to the grocery store themselves.

Siena Theta Upsilon

On December 1st and 2nd, Theta Upsilon Chapter members volunteered their time to help support The American Cancer Society in their Christmas Gift Wrapping event. The Brothers were asked to go to one of the local malls in the area and man the booth for the ACS. Many of the Brothers participated in wrapping gifts of all shapes and sizes. For some of us it was not only a community service event, but a lesson in the art of gift wrapping!

Theta Upsilon Chapter is proud of Brother Mike Siegel, the New England Regional Collegian of the Year.

South Carolina Beta Gamma

Interchapter relations increased this year with the implementation of several different events with nearby chapters. In October we visited the Kappa Tau Chapter at Clemson. We attended their chapter meeting and stayed for their speaker who spoke on the topic, "How to Get a Job." In November the Brothers traveled to Atlanta for a professional tour of CNN with the Kappa Chapter at Georgia State and the Kappa Sigma Chi Colony at Kennesaw State. And of course, we further strengthened the bonds of Brotherhood by sponsoring Spring Fling '94 at Jekyll Island, Georgia.

South Dakota Alpha Eta

The Professional Committee of Alpha Eta Chapter introduced a variety of subjects and speakers to the members. Kyle Goldhammer, Chief Finance Officer at Dakota Hospital explained the operations and accounting of a health care facility. Matt Stricherz, Director of the USD Counseling Center spoke on sexual harassment awareness and Paula Wik, a customer-service supervisor at the Argus Leader explained her position from a human-relations aspect. A field trip took us to Cargill, Medtronic, and Mystic Lakes Casino.

Some of the community service projects included collecting items for the Sioux Falls Ronald McDonald house, Adopt-A-Highway and May Day baskets distributed to the Vermillion Nursing Home.

SUNY-Binghamton Kappa Lambda

During the fall semester Kappa Lambda co-sponsored the 4th annual Employer Fair, which turned out to be our most successful one yet. It brought in regional businesses and corporations, including representatives from the big six accounting firms.

Southern California Phi

The alumni of Phi Chapter are very important and an extra effort was made this year to locate some of our "lost Brothers". We have been fairly successful and we have received communication from some including Brother Robert Reynolds, founding member of the Phi Chapter, initiated on May 13, 1922. He turned 96 years old this past December!

Professionally, we had a very informative and interesting tour of Image Entertainment, the largest distributor of laser discs in the United States. Afterwards, the members were given the opportunity to speak with Martin Grenwald, the CEO and Chairman of the Board.

South Florida Theta Phi

In the fall semester Theta Phi Chapter was operating like a well-oiled machine... and quite a profitable one at that. Fund raising comes easy with the Tampa Bay Bucs games in our backyard! In the spring semester we witnessed growing pains and organizational change, which was a dynamic learning experience for the entire chapter. Among the ideas for spicing up our pro-fessional program was a tour of a funeral home at Halloween or even our local Anheuser Busch Brewery. Also, many of our ideas and experiences have come from interacting with chapters in the South Atlantic Region. Many thanks to Delta Iota Chapter (fall) and Beta Eta Chapter (spring) for hosting the Regional Joint Initiations this year.

Southwestern Louisiana Kappa Xi

The Kappa Xi Chapter participated in a Social Studies Fair in March to fulfill community service obligations. From 7:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. the Brothers were kept busy doing various duties such as greeters, information desk clerks, floor directors and receiving personnel. One of the Brothers was honored to be asked to serve as a judge for the event. The Social Studies Fair is a Southwest Regional Junior and Senior High School competition which, this year, had 486 projects competing for medals and a chance to progress to the State Competition.

SUNY-Albany Zeta Psi

The semester started on a high note with the installation of pledges. The chapter worked towards accomplishing the goals we had set out for our selves at the beginning of the semester. Various challenges arose throughout the semester, yet we were able to resolve these problems by working together. Toward the end of the semester, the Brothers were excited about the initiation of the current pledge class.

Spring semester was also a successful one for community service. We served dinner to the homeless, bowled for kids's sake, and taught Business Basics to elementary school children. The chapter was given a plaque and recognized by Junior Achievement for our continued support of Business Basics.

SUNY-Buffalo Alpha Kappa

Alpha Kappa Chapter tried to have more effective advertising exposure this year by concentrating not only on the School of Management, Jacobs Hall, but also on the high traffic areas throughout the university. Moreover, we used the winter break to mail personalized invitations to the houses of new management students. The program was very successful and we initiated 23 new Brothers this spring term.

The chapter hosted five professional speakers whose topics ranged from advertising to interviewing skills and did three fund-raisers: vendors, credit cards, and Passport to Savings.

Tampa Epsilon Rho

Epsilon Rho Chapter's professional program this year proved to be as fun and diverse as our Brothers. We got a fascinating look at the restaurant business through guest speakers such as Chris Sullivan, CEO of Outback Steakhouse, and Charles White, Jr., CEO of Checkers. We were also visited by local sports executives such as Tampa Bay Lightning Governor David LeFevre and the vice president of football administration for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, Richard McKay. Our successful professional program and our worthwhile involvement with Junior Achievement cause us to be optimistic toward next year!

Temple Omega

The fall semester proved to be a productive one for Omega Chapter. Our major community service event, education of children in the inner-city program, was pulled off without a hitch and we initiated 11 new Brothers.

An area which the chapter is striving to improve is increased communication among the Brothers. Two different ways have been enacted which have been very effective at dispersing information. The first is our semester newsletter. As this is only published once a semester, we decided to try something more effective. The result was email. Each student has free access to the school's main-frame or they can use their home computer. This system has greatly increased communications among the chapter.

Tennessee-Knoxville Alpha Zeta

In October, Alpha Zeta Chapter sponsored a most unusual type of fund-raiser. The "Bama Car Smash" brought a great deal of satisfaction to the University of Tennessee students. For a donation, participants could take a sledgehammer to a junk car painted in the rival University of Alabama colors.

The Brothers were also proud to be the sponsors of the first annual Winter Blast Ski Trip. Approximately 100 Brothers and guests from the Southeastern Region gathered for the weekend at Beech Mountain, North Carolina to brave the snow and slopes. On Saturday night, a dinner buffet was held along with music and dancing.

Texas A&M Lambda Nu

The professional program of Lambda Nu Chapter focused on a variety of topics and issues that helped students preparing to enter the work force. The chapter heard presentations on "Leadership" by Dean of Student Development Dr. Joe Townsend, on "Recruitment" by Recruiting Coordinator for Ernst & Young Ms. Lynn Starrett, and on "Downsizing Corporate America" by Mr. Phil Williams, Manager, Management Support Operations, Texas Utilities Services, Inc. Dr. L. Murphy Smith, Accounting Professor of the College of Business spoke on "Ethics", Mr. Paul Smith, Manager, Internal Audit with Texas Utilities Services, Inc. spoke on "Career Development" and Mr. Thomas L. Harken, Founder of Casa Ole, Inc. spoke on "Entrepreneurship." In an effort to bring the Brothers of Lambda Nu Chapter together in a social and relaxed atmosphere, the social committee tried to plan a social hour almost every week.

Texas A & M Corpus Christi Iota Psi

Our District Director, David Martinez, assisted the chapter with an officers workshop in January. The workshop helped our future leaders to develop their management skills necessary to assist in their prospective offices. This seminar made it easier for the new officers to ease into their new positions in the spring. We also put together an officer's handbook to keep information organized and readily available should any questions arise. It is hoped that the workshop and the officer handbooks will greatly increase communication, unity and chapter operations for the next year.

Texas A&M-Kingsville Zeta Nu

In October Zeta Nu Chapter participated in National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness and Red Ribbon Week sponsored by the university. This campus wide campaign, entitled Project F.R.E.A.K. (Finding Responsible Entertainment Alternatives on Kampus) was created to increase awareness of the issues and risks associated with alcohol and drug use.

Our chapter participated in Operation Top Coat in April to assist those less fortunate. Through one of our alumni who organized the event, we spent an entire day painting three houses around the Kingsville area. The day was well spent, and as extra bonus the fraternity received local television and newspaper coverage.

Texas Arlington Zeta Mu

In April Zeta Mu Chapter members attended an alcohol awareness seminar hosted by Mr. Joe Morris from the Arlington Fire Department. The purpose of the event was to educate students on the effects of alcohol on the body, the negative effects of driving while intoxicated, and underage drinking. Fireman Morris showed the students slides of car wrecks as a result of driving under the influence.

To commemorate Zeta Mu Chapter's 35th anniversary we celebrated with a small party after our business meeting.

Brother Phil Rice, Chapter President, gave an informal speech in celebration of the installation of the Zeta Mu Chapter.

Texas-Austin Beta Kappa

In conjunction with the Undergraduate Business Council's Business Week, Beta Kappa Chapter sponsored a presentation on the Borderless Market and NAFTA. Speaking were the Director of LBJ School of Public Affairs, the Mexican Counsel to Austin, and the Managing Director of Public Strategies, Inc.

During the fall semester the Brothers heard from Tom Penders, head coach for the University of Texas basketball team. He discussed teamwork and cooperation and how valuable these skills are in the business world. Coach Penders also gave us an autographed basketball which we later presented to a disadvantaged 12 year old boy as a Christmas present.

Texas Christian Delta Upsilon

Delta Upsilon Chapter members were given the opportunity to provide special assistance to the Assistant Dean and the business school at numerous times throughout the year. Several times we provided tours of the business school to high school and elementary students. In March we had lunch and answered questions for our sister high school. Toward the end of the year we represented a majority of the business school awards banquet committee which planned the entire spring banquet.

In late September the chapter celebrated its 35th birthday at the Lockhead Recreational Center. This was a social in conjunction with faculty and alumni at which we played softball and volleyball. We also had hot dogs and cake to commemorate the chapter's birthday.

Trenton State Mu Omega

Several interesting professional events were sponsored by the chapter this semester. Maria Frontera, a fashion and image consultant with NBO

Members and pledges from Delta Omega Chapter attend their Big Brother/Little Brother Night.

Menswear, presented a "Dress for Success" seminar to the chapter in April. She showed the members how to dress in the business world, as well as proper attire that should be worn at the office. Grooming and accessory tips were also given.

Dr. James Robinson, Dean of the School of Business, was the speaker in an open forum sponsored by the chapter. He discussed the need restructuring of the business school for accreditation purposes.

Hector Winston, Vice President of Capital Imports, gave an interesting seminar on "Conducting an Interview in a Restaurant Setting." Mr. Winston demonstrated how an interviewee should behave during a lunch interview. He discussed how one should order and what price range is generally acceptable.

Troy State Eta Kappa

The chapter decided to sponsor a Daisy Troop as part of our community service calendar this year. Our duties include providing chaperones on field trips and buying certificates and patches. Professionally, we were proud to have Dr. Don Hines, Deltasig alumnus and Dean of the School of Business, present to us the topic "Proper Decision Making." Brother Hines is the new Dean here at Troy State University, and he comes to us from the Lambda Rho Chapter at Livingston University. Welcome Brother Hines!

Happy Birthday to Eta Kappa Chapter as we celebrate our 25th anniversary.

Valparaiso Kappa Phi

Kappa Phi Chapter has been very busy this past year. The newest, "brother" to attend meetings has been Stanley (the pig). Stanley was passed around the room to collect for Charity Fines. Brothers were fined a dime if they did not follow the "rules." The money collected in Stanley was donated to the Porter County Cancer Society, which was extremely grateful to Delta Sigma Pi for the money raised. Although Stanley is now a member of the Porter County Cancer Society family, Kappa Phi Chapter will never forget him.

Virginia Commonwealth Eta Omega

Eta Omega is excited to be assisting the Mu Sigma Chi Colony at the University of Virginia in reactivating their chapter. Plans are being made to travel to their school to aid them in recruiting and other areas of operations as well as inviting the colony members up to Richmond to visit our chapter.

To promote scholarship, the chapter has enacted a PI 3.14 award. Recipients, who have a semester GPA of 3.14 or higher receive a certificate and plaque.

Virginia Tech Zeta Upsilon

This year we were once again involved with the Junior Achievement Program in Montgomery County. By participating in JA's Super Bowl-A-Thon, we will be able to raise money to teach middle school students business basics. In February, we held our annual Rose Dance at The Farmhouse in Christiansburg.

In the spring we worked to bring back our Business Week. It involved speakers and workshops open to students in the College of Business. One of our final events was our annual Pig Roast and Senior Picnic for our graduating seniors.

Washington-St. Louis Alpha Chi

The spring semester brought many new aspects to Alpha Chi Chapter. First, we have finally found a place to call home, an official office in the Business School. In addition, an E-Mail account has been opened by the chapter. Another new aspect is the Deltasig Challenge. The Brothers have been placed into six groups with points awarded for fraternity events and social gatherings by the individual groups. The challenge is getting people more acquainted with their Brothers and everyone seems to enjoy the friendly competition.

Successful events this year included tours to local businesses, the community service projects, professional speakers, and social events such as bowling nights, movie nights and intramural sports.

Wayne State Eta Pi

Eta Pi Chapter members are excited about winning first place basketball and third place volleyball awards from the North Central Regional VB/BB tournament. Aaron Wilson, of Eta Pi Chapter, was also selected as North Central Regional Collegian of the Year.

In April Eta Pi Chapter celebrated its 25th annual Rose Formal. We held the event at the Red Lion in Omaha, Nebraska. The night included dinner, dancing, and socializing.

Several community service and fundraising activities were accomplished by Eta Pi Chapter members. Some of these activities included Adopt-A-Highway, collecting aluminum cans, a car wash, selling carnations, and a tuition raffle.

Wayne State-Detroit Gamma Theta

The members of Gamma Theta Chapter worked long and hard to make this one of the best years ever. We participated in the Huron Regional Rose Ball and it was an inspiring show of Brotherhood.

A new twist in Fundraising this year was a car crunch which took place the day of Homecoming. A junk car was donated by a Deltasig alumnus and was decorated in the opposing team's colors. People were charged to smash the car with a sledgehammer. All the Brothers thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Western Illinois Lambda Omicron

One event Lambda Omicron Brothers will not soon forget is the St. Louis Undergrad

Weekend. Brotherhood never felt so good as when we won the volleyball tournament. We also had the opportunity to visit Busch Stadium and the Anheuser Busch Brewery.

Back on campus, we also managed a few professional and service events along the way. Speakers included an FDIC examiner, an insurance vice president, and the Graduate Studies Director. We provided service to the community by assisting in a blood drive, a YMCA youth carnival, and the Cardboard Boat Regatta.

Western Kentucky Zeta Theta

Zeta Theta Chapter is proud to announce that on becoming members of Delta Sigma Pi we also become members of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce. At the end of each month we have the opportunity to attend monthly breakfast and/or coffee hours with the Chamber of Commerce.

Zeta Theta Chapter has been very active this year by participating in Junior Achievement and teaching some of the basics of business to elementary schools. We also have taken various tours. Some of the other activities that we have participated in include bake sales, faculty luncheon, professional speakers, Brotherhood Week, and visiting the nursing home and the Medical Center.

West Florida Eta Upsilon

Eta Upsilon Chapter celebrated its 25th Silver anniversary with our annual Rose Ball banquet. The evening was filled with fine dining, dancing and a presentation of awards.

Delta Sigma Pi has, now more than ever, been recognized on campus by sponsoring Snowfest, Business Day, and the Blues Brothers. Business day included four speakers who covered the pitfalls to avoid when opening a business, how to start a business from the management and economic perspective, how to finance a small business, and the cultural difficulties Toyota encountered.

As for professional activities, topics covered were listening, resumes, and professional selling. The most exciting speaker was George Schenck from the FBI; he spoke about white collar crime. We also took a tour of the local power plant, Gulf Power.

West Liberty State Delta Omega

Delta Omega Chapter had an exquisite spring semester. The chapter just recently initiated and welcomed five new Brothers into the chapter and fraternity. Four of these new Brothers have recently been elected to various positions on the executive board for the 1994-95 school year.

The accomplishments for the past spring semester included a tour of Wheeling-Nissan Steel and speakers whose topics included owning a small business. The chapter adopted a highway clean-up program and chaperoned spring activities for Big Brothers and Sisters.

Winona State Kappa Upsilon

Kappa Upsilon Chapter's 11th birthday was on April 9, 1994. That was also the same day as our Area Conference. A birthday cake was ordered and we shared it with the other area chapters at the conference. They sang "Happy Birthday" to us. The next week we continued the celebration with a barbecue down by Lake Winona. Almost every Brother was able to attend. We grilled out, played softball, and went hiking.

To make our "Adopt-A-Highway" project a little more fun, we implemented a theme each time we cleaned our two mile stretch of highway. In April the theme was wearing pajamas, and our May clean-up was on Friday the 13th, so we dressed in scary clothes.

Wisconsin-LaCrosse Eta Rho

In April over 80 alumni and guests returned to LaCrosse to celebrate Eta Rho Chapter's 25th anniversary. The weekend began with a reception, then there was an afternoon cruise on the LaCrosse Queen, and the Rose Banquet in the evening with over 120 Brothers and guests. We celebrated the initiation of five new Brothers and there was a special appearance by Tim Stadler, who sang a song he wrote for the Eta Rho Chapter. Sunday's champagne brunch was a great time to unwind from the busy weekend. Approximately 30 Brothers and guest enjoyed the wonderful buffet.

Wisconsin-Madison Psi

In February, Psi Chapter was pleased to have Congressman Scott Klug speak to us on current political issues. Topics covered involved Health Care Reform, Economics, NAFTA, as well as the Congressman's plans for the future. Another interesting speaker was Jeff Sauer, Hockey Coach for the Wisconsin Badgers. He spoke about the hockey program and the importance of teamwork in all aspects of life.

Also in February, we held a party to celebrate the birthday of Psi Chapter. The Brothers decorated the chapter house, had a catered meal and a birthday cake. We toasted to Brothers past, present, and future. After this short celebration, we opened the event to our friends and commemorated our chapter's 71st birthday.

Wisconsin-Whitewater Theta Xi

presentation about the "The New Computer Highway." Mr. Smith's "New Computer Highway" is the alliance of television and computers, or also called the new "interactive Multimedia." It will be a computer based applications that combines text, graphics, video, audio, and animation into a media experience for users. It will give watchers total control over what they see.

The new interactive multimedia can do the following: Banking, done by on-line television banking; shopping, done by interactive shopping service; video rentals, done by TV remote; health, checked by on-line "house-calls" and teleconferences with a doctor.

Xavier-Cincinnati Theta Lambda

Theta Lambda Chapter participated in several interesting and beneficial community service projects throughout the year. In December the chapter donated food, money and/or services to our assigned family through the "Adopt A Family" service program at Xavier University. We bought toys, clothes, books, etc. for the family, wrapped it all for Christmas, and then a social worker picked up the collection and delivered it. We also organized a sandwich donation to a shelter. The Brothers prepared 200 sandwiches which were distributed to homeless or hungry in downtown Cincinnati.

During the spring the chapter sponsored a dunking booth and a race car during the Mini Indy on campus. All of the money raised from our chapter and other organizations was given to the Brighton Center. The Mini Indy lasted an entire day, during which Brothers helped collect money for the dunking booth.

Investing in the future.

Invest in the future by building a legacy today.

Our members have available to them excellent classroom learning opportunities, as provided by their school or university. However, the traditional classroom does not focus on professional development, practical leadership experiences and the positive civic and commercial values shared within a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi.

While the day-to-day operations of the fraternity are, and should be, totally financed through current income from members, the educational and scholastic objectives of Delta Sigma Pi need significant funds if future generations are to have opportunities uniquely experienced within our Fraternity.

The Board of Trustees of the Delta Sigma Pi Leadership Foundation proudly introduce the Living Legacy Society, a planned giving program for our Brotherhood, and welcome those who are interested in investing in the future of our fraternity.

This fall celebrates another season of Regional Conferences for the Brothers, pledges, and guests of Delta Sigma Pi. In sixteen cities across the United States, hotels and fraternity volunteers are preparing to welcome hundreds of Deltasigs to their hometowns. For all Brothers, the Regional Conferences represent a golden opportunity to renew old friendships, swap stories, meet the Deltasigs of today, and meet other Deltasig business people. Collegiate Brothers also receive the chance to learn the best and brightest ideas in the business and fraternal worlds.

The goals for each regional conference are many. The basic goals are for Brothers and speakers to exchange worthwhile ideas and skills. This exchange of ideas and skills often results in more talented Brothers, better chapters, and a better fraternity. The many benefits to Collegiate Brothers include identifying solutions to common problems, learning business skills needed for the 21st century, and meeting the fraternity leaders of today.

Chapters and individuals alike will be recognized and rewarded for their accomplishments during the Regional Conferences. Already, many chapter members are eager to learn if their chapter will be named The Outstanding Chapter in Delta Sigma Pi for 1993-94. Brothers from dozens of other chapters are also anxious for the Regional Conferences to begin. Will they receive the Outstanding Professional Activities Award, the Most Improved Chapter Award, or the Outstanding Service Award? Which Alumni Chapter and its members will be honored as the best alumni group in the fraternity?

Delta Sigma Pi also recognizes individual accomplishments at the Regional Conferences. One noteworthy presentation will be made on Saturday, October 22, 1994 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Greenville, South Carolina. The Collegian of the Year Award for 1994 will be presented to Brother L. Paige Turnes from Kappa Nu Chapter at Longwood College in Farmville, Virginia. Grand President Randy L. Hultz will be making the presentation to Brother Turnes.

Several Alumni Brothers will be recognized for their years of service to Delta Sigma Pi. The Order of the Silver Helmet and the Order of the Golden Helmet will be awarded to those Brothers who are celebrating 25 and 50 years of service to Delta Sigma Pi. We strongly encourage all Brothers to nominate those Brothers in your area who qualify for either of these prestigious awards. A nomination for them may be submitted either to your respective Regional Director or to Executive Director Michael J. Mazur, Jr. at the fraternity's Central Office.

One of the more memorable events in Delta Sigma Pi history will occur in Columbia, Missouri, on Saturday, October 1; in Greenville, South Carolina, on Saturday, October 22; and in Jackson, Mississippi, on Saturday, November 5, 1994. The Brothers from Our Lady of Holy Cross College, the University of Missouri at Kansas City, and Kennesaw State College will receive their long awaited Chapter Charters and Scholarship Key Scrolls. Please read the article in this issue on the installation of Nu Omicron, Nu Xi, and Nu Pi Chapters to see how much effort and hard work will be recognized by these charter presentations.

Each Regional Conference will be specifically designed to meet the needs of the Brothers and chapters in that area. Five topics will be offered at every conference and these topics include Recruiting, Member Education, Ritual Issues, Managing Risks, and Alumni Issues. The list of topics to be offered across the country is too large to include in this space but there should be several topics of interest to all Brothers.

For many Brothers, the Regional Conferences represent a chance to escape from business and school responsibilities for a few hours or a few days. Many Alumni Brothers have planned three day weekends around the Regional Conference sites. Who would not enjoy a vacation to San Diego, California; Cape Cod, Massachusetts; Orlando, Florida; or the other thirteen Regional Conference sites? This is especially true when you review the hotel rates which have been negotiated for the conferences. In many areas, the hotel rates are 40% below what a "typical traveler" receives.

Registration forms are now available from The Central Office for all sixteen Regional Conferences. For Alumni Brothers and guests, registration forms are available to register for specific events at the conference. If you cannot attend every conference event, make plans to attend those events which you can. For more information, please contact The Central Office staff.

of Campus Ministry Sister Cynthia Knowles, M.S.C. Dean of the College of Applied Natural and Social Sciences James A. Rabalais offered the official Greetings of the College, and Director of Institutional Advancement Sister Laura Melancon, M.S.C. presented the History of the School of Business.

Following the History of Beta Lambda Alpha Colony by Nu Omicron Historian Brian J. Herbert, Grand President Randy L. Hultz presented the charge and charter to Nu Omicron Chapter President William R. Dempsey. Executive Director Michael J. Mazur, Jr., extended Fraternal Greetings from chapters and Brothers across the country.

The fraternity welcomes the members of Nu Omicron Chapter into the fraternal family as the 236th collegiate chapter of Delta Sigma Pi.

June 11, 1994, was an important date for Delta Sigma Pi, especially for 37 members at Kennesaw State College in Marietta, Georgia. On this day the Kappa Sigma Chi Colony became Nu Pi Chapter, the 237th collegiate chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, and the ninth chapter in the State of Georgia. Heading the installation team were Grand President Randy L. Hultz, Southern Provincial Vice President Elizabeth M. Keith, 1992 Collegian of the Year Anne C. Rackers, Southeastern Regional Director Mitchell B. Simmons, District Director John A. Watton, District Director Christine K. Moomey, Director of Chapter Services Dale M. Clark, and April Satterfield, an Epsilon Chi initiate and Nu Pi Chapter affiliate. Assisting were members of Kappa Chapter at Georgia State University, and Alpha Zeta Chapter at the University of Tennessee.

Following the installation ceremonies at the College, the installation banquet was held at the Atlanta Marriott Hotel. Acting as Toastmaster was Southeastern Regional Director Mitchell B. Simmons. The Invocation was given by Nu Pi Chapter member Marc Frederick. Nu Pi Chapter Faculty Advisor Gregory A. Greenwell, and Faculty member Michael J. Coles, offered the official Greetings of the College. Assistant Dean Dr. Ralph Frey presented a History of the School of Business, and the History of Kappa Sigma Chi Colony was presented by Nu Pi Chapter member Pamela Byers.

Grand President Randy L. Hultz presented the Charge and Charter which was accepted by Nu Pi Chapter President Todd Roseberry. The installation banquet program was concluded with Fraternal Greetings presented to all members of Nu Pi Chapter by Director of Chapter Services Dale M. Clark.

On October 9, 1963, the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia voted to locate a junior college in Cobb County. The college was scheduled to open in the fall of 1966, but a series of labor disputes plagued construction and temporary arrangements were made to accommodate the 1,014 students who had registered. In January of 1967, they moved into the permanent quarters at Kennesaw Junior College.

On April 14, 1977, the Regents approved a proposal to convert to a four-year liberal arts college and the word "junior" was taken out of the name. In 1983, the college's division of study was reorganized into four schools. One of these was The School of Business.

In 1988, Kennesaw College added the word "state" to its name to better define itself as a four-year, public institution. Kennesaw State College's graduate program offerings have grown dramatically during the past few years and over 12,000 students are currently enrolled.

The Michael J. Coles School of Business Administration is one of four academic schools at Kennesaw State College. The School was created in 1983, and now has the largest enrollment of the four schools. Over 3,000 of the more than 12,000 students at Kennesaw State College are business majors. The School is organized into five departments; Accounting, Decision Science and Business Law, Economics and Finance, Management and Entrepreneurship, and Marketing and Professional Sales. During 1993, two more degree programs became available: the master of accounting and the MBA for experienced professionals.

Kappa Sigma Chi Colony came into being in October of 1992. In May of 1992, past Director of Chapter Services C. Dean Ferguson and past Southeastern Regional Director John A. Watton visited with Dean Timothy S. Mescon to investigate the possibility of starting a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi on the Kennesaw State College campus. Permission to start recruiting was given for the upcoming fall quarter. In September of 1992, invitations for a recruiting event were sent to students of the School of Business and members of the Atlanta Alumni Chapter were in attendance to help with recruiting efforts. During October the group conducted an organizational meeting and submitted their formal intent to petition Delta Sigma Pi for a chapter charter. Director of Chapter Services Dale M. Clark visited the colony on October 20, 1992, and provided ideas on recruiting.

Chapter Consultant James E. Leingang visited the group on January 20-21, 1993, and met with officers individually. Two members of the colony attended Grand Chapter Congress in Anaheim, California, and in September of 1993, Chapter Consultant Kathleen R. Dinius visited the colony for a consultation on all operations.

We again offer our congratulations and welcome to the 37 new members of Nu Pi Chapter.

The spa-like atmosphere is comprised of both athletic and relaxation facilities, such as The Peabody Athletic Club. This club features 15 Nautilus stations, free weights, and aerobic bicycles, stair climbing, rowing, and track machines. There's also regularly scheduled indoor aerobic classes, pool deck Reebok step classes, and water aerobics taught by certified aerobic instructors.

The athletic club also often organizes tennis matchmaking opportunities and will arrange tournaments upon request. The also schedule golf outings at the nearby International Golf Course, just a mile away, or at MetroWest, seven minutes from the hotel. Both courses work with The Peabody Orlando for the benefit of golfing enthusiasts. Individuals can choose to have their greens fees conveniently signed to their room while they're enjoying a round.

After golf, tennis, or a good workout, laps are a challenge in the double Olympic-length swimming pool. On warm, clear days, cabana attendants supply fresh towels to everyone on the 400-chair pool deck.

For those with relaxation in mind, the extra-large European whirlpool is the perfect solution. The whirlpool is conveniently located next to the outdoor pool bar, which serves favorite drinks year-around from 11 a.m. until sunset each day.

A 50-year-old tradition continues at The Peabody Orlando, where twice daily four mallard hens and a drake march down a red carpet to the tune of John Philip Sousa's "King Cotton" march.

The Peabody Orlando keeps the five mallards safe and protected in their exclusive $100,000 Royal Duck Palace on the hotel's recreation level. The palace provides the feathered VIP guests with fresh-running water from brass duck fountains in a black marble pool. The palace is also equipped with track lighting and a ceiling fan for hot summer nights. Daily at 11 a.m., the ducks leave their palace and march to the brass elevator reserved exclusively for their use, with the duck master. If all goes as planned, they travel to the hotel lobby, where hundreds of guests greet them as they continue their march to the lobby fountain, for an afternoon fund and frolic. At 5 p.m. the ducks reverse their march and return for a relaxing evening in their palace. The unpredictability of the ducks can make for an unusually entertaining march.

Complete convention details and registration information will be profiled in a future issue of The DELTASIG Magazine.
